AmossReports PremierDead

Baltimore, June 17 (AP)—Col. Julius L. Amoss, who heads what is described as a private, worldwide intelligence service, said last night that rumors are spreading in the satellite countries that Georgi Malenkov has been slain.

Amoss stressed that the reports were only rumor, but told the Baltimore Sun that "it is a verified fact that Malenkov has been incommunicado for more than a month."

Col. Amoss was chief of the east European division of the Office of Strategic Services during World War 2.

He said that the Russian premier has "not been heard, seen or heard from in the last 30 days."

Reports Unverified

Information from his agents in eastern Europe indicate, Amoss said, that rumors of Malenkov's death are based on unverified reports that the successor to Joseph Stalin was slain in a struggle for power among top Russ leaders.

He added that his reports indicate also that Stalin "did not die a natural death."

Amoss' organization is known as International Services of Information.

Soviets Announce Shooting; Martial Law Extended in Zone

Berlin, June 18 (AP)—A Russian firing squad today executed a German accused by the Soviet army command of organizing anti-Communist riots in East Berlin.

Major General P. T. Dibrova, now ruling East Berlin under a state of siege, announced the execution.

The Soviet General described the dead man, Willi Goettling, as "a resident of West Berlin, who worked on order of a foreign intelligence service, was one of the active organizers of provocations and disturbances in the Soviet sector of Berlin, and participated in the violent banditry against the organs of power and the population."

"Goettling was sentenced to death by shooting. The sentence was carried out," the grim announcement concluded.

Martial Law Extended

The Russians extended martial law to areas bordering East Berlin and began a series of mass arrests in an effort to stamp out the unrest which exploded in the sector yesterday and resulted in at least 16 fatalities.

The Russian military commander's announcement was distributed by the Soviet Zone News Agency ADN.

More than 100 Germans were reported under arrest today in East Berlin and facing Soviet courts. flying squads of people's police and Communist party officials raided workers' homes, hunting suspects.

West Germany wondered if the Soviet army would stop its firing squad after the one execution as a terror example.

East Berlin Residents

Most of the arrested Germans were, by Communist admission, residents of East Berlin and not the allied sectors. But Red propaganda continued to harp on the charge that "western provocateurs" instigated the anti-Communist rebellion.

Some of the oldest employes of nationalized plants and factories were seized last night and this morning. They were pointed out by Communist informers as men who had led the march of 50,000 workers against the government headquarters yesterday.

ROK Troops Seize Korean Positions In Bitter Fights

Gains Are Made After Two Hills Are Lost to Reds Who Sent 800 Into Battle

Seoul, June 18 (AP) — South Korean troops, fighting viciously, lost and then won back two frontline positions on the east-central front today.

Four hundred Chinese pushed the ROKs off steep, high M-1 Ridge, near Christmas Hill, at 6 a. m. but the ROKs banged back and retook the height about noon. It has been the scene of bloody fighting the last few days.

Another 400 Chinese battled hand to hand with South Korean troops at a frontline position south of Finger Ridge in the midmorning, finally pushing the ROKs back. A few hours later the doughty South Koreans won back the position in more close-range battling.

In the air, U. S. Sabre pilots destroyed four MIGs and damaged four others in jet battles than ranged down to tree-top height along the Yalu river in far northwest Korea.

Meanwhile, an Eighth Army officer said latest figures showed 120 Chinese killed and 480 wounded early Tuesday in two unsuccessful 2,000-man attacks at Outpost Harry on the central front.

Allied casualties were comparatively very low, he said.

Greek troops threw back a sharp strike at Outpost Harry Thursday.

The Red jab at Outpost Harry on the central front ended a short-lived lull across the 155-mile battlefront—a lull which appeared timed to agreement at Panmunjom on a battlefront demarcation line.

The stubborn Greek defenders threw back 3,000 Chinese and North Korean Reds in an hours-long, hand-to-hand battle on Outpost Harry.

In other ground action, Allied artillery chopped up 1,500 Red reinforcements attempting to move toward Communist-held Finger Ridge Wednesday night.

Inchon Clash Reported

Seoul, Friday, June 19 (AP)—North Korean anti-Red prisoners clashed today in a bloody battle with U. S. Marines and soldiers at an allied prison camp near Inchon. First fragmentary reports said about 100 prisoners may have been killed in the predawn fighting. Official confirmation was lacking.

Allies Feel Act Might Kill Truce

Reliable Source Reports Rhee Has Rejected Eisenhower Appeal on Armistice

Tokyo, June 18 (AP)—South Korea revolted against the UN Command and its armistice terms today, freeing some 25,000 anti-Red Korean prisoners and announcing immediate steps to enlist most of them in its own army.

President Syngman Rhee's arbitrary order turned South Korea's anti-truce threats into direct action, catching his allies flat-footed and leaving them sharply resentful.

What effect it would have on the truce—now apparently only an arm's reach away—was not known. No official source would speculate.

In Seoul, a reliable source indicated Rhee has sent a flat "no" to President Eisenhower's June 6 appeal for South Korea to accept the armistice. The source quoted Rhee as telling Eisenhower that South Korea would perish under the truce terms.

Guards Turn Backs

South Korean guards in four camps turned their backs as the prisoners fled into the morning darkness.

Small bands of Americans tried vainly to stop the exodus.

A few hours later, a high South Korean military authority said most of the prisoners would be enlisted in the ROK army. That could add about two divisions to the 16-division ROK force.

He indicated that prisoners from two camps—Nansan and Sangmudai—went to nearby ROK military training centers with the aid of South Korean military personnel immediately after fleeing.

An American officer said many ROK officers from the prison camps fled with the prisoners.

Recapture Is Tried

Meanwhile, the UN Command said it handed the Reds a letter at Panmunjom reporting the ROK guards had been replaced by U. S. troops and that every effort is being made to recapture the 24,000 prisoners still loose.

There were reports that the prisoners were being taken into private homes and farms, or hiding in the hills. Rhee had urged all civilians to help the prisoners.

The UN prisoner command disclosed that one ROK guard was killed in the breakout at the camp near Sang-mudai, but gave no de-

Flight Was Special for U.S. Troops

All Bodies Are Mangled, Correspondent Says; Calls Scene Like One Out of Hell

Tokyo, June 18 (AP)—A giant C-124 Globemaster pinwheeled out of the murky sky near Tokyo today and crashed in flames carrying 128 Americans to their deaths in history's worst air disaster.

The air force said 60 bodies had been identified. The huge doubledeck transport was carrying 121 army engineers and airmen back to battle stations in Korea. The plane had a crew of seven.

There were no survivors.

The Globemaster crashed seconds after taking off from the U. S. air base at Tachikawa, 25 miles west of Tokyo.

An eyewitness said the giant plane "somersaulted like a bird and plummeted to the ground."

Crashed and Exploded

A Japanese farmer, Masayasu Kinoshita, said "the huge plane came skimming over the trees by the highway. Two of its four propellers were not turning. Then it circled and crashed and exploded."

The plane was a special flight for soldiers, not one of the regular courier runs between Japan and Korea.

The worst previous air disaster was the crash of another Globemaster near Larson Air Force Base at Moses Lake, Wash., which killed 86 last Dec. 20.

Associated Press Photographer Max Desfor reported from the scene that an air force major from Tachikawa said his men had removed nearly 130 bodies.

Scene Is Described

Associated Press Correspondent Stan Carter said sickened air force medics toiled under searchlights carrying broken bodies to ambulances across 100 yards of deep mud.

"The scene was like something out of hell," Carter said.

"There was the terrible smell of burned oil and burned human flesh intermingled.

"The bodies were terribly mangled.

"One medic tried to pick up one body and put it on a stretcher. The head fell off.

"The wreckage was all tangled into one concentrated spot—the plane must have come straight down and exploded. There were balls of crumpled metal 30 feet high."

No Names Released

Names of the dead will not be released until next of kin are notified.

The air force said there was some light rain and fog as the plane left Tachikawa, but the weather was not bad enough to ground aircraft.

It said there was a ceiling of about 1,000 feet and visibility of about one mile. A spokesman said the safety limits are a 250-foot ceiling and half-mile visibility.

All army rest and recuperation leaves in Japan were canceled Thursday after the South Korean government released 25,000 anti-Communist war prisoners from allied compounds in Korea. But it appeared probable the men aboard the doomed plane already had completed their leave.

33 Die in Crash

Saigon, Indochina, June 18 (AP)—All 33 persons aboard the Laotian passenger plane which crashed in the jungle near Pakse Wednesday were killed, it was announced today. A previous report said 27 persons were killed.

M. CLIFFORD MILLER

M. Clifford Miller of Hurley, acting vice principal of Kingston High School, was elected principal of the Myron J. Michael School at a meeting of the board of education last night to fill a vacancy created recently by the resignation of Principal Harry T. Gumaer.

Various Points Are Discussed; Other Matters Are Considered

The Kingston Teachers Council met with the local board of education last night at which time it presented a report on its deliberations during the year and submitted some questions for the board's consideration.

Among questions raised by the council were the advisability of raising the kindergarten entrance age to five years, the providing of a remedial teacher for each school for an ungraded class and the more careful screening of pupils.

As of September 8, 1953, the kindergarten requirement will be four years and eight months and as of September 8, 1954, it will be four years and nine months.

Attendance Discussed

The council also discussed with the board the question of teacher attendance at conferences, the matter of parent-teacher conferences, reporting to parents and supervision of the noon-day school lunch program.

The council is composed of two teachers from each school in the city system.

The board authorized advertisement for bids for the transportation of approximately 50 children living in the Wilbur avenue section to the George Washington School on Wall street and return.

Contracts Awarded

The following contracts were awarded: Manifold doors in Schools 5 and 6, $3,662.45, M. Stanley Forgatch; installation of an oil burning system in the Myron J. Michael School, $11,397.50, De Somma & Buser, Inc., Saugerties; paints and painting supplies, $1,218.70 Valeo's Hardware; school

Naval Ship Will Anchor in River; No City Landing

Change in Order Possibly Due to Tardy Arrival of Vessel Now on Training Cruise

The 180-foot PCE-895 with 100 men aboard will not dock in Rondout creek this afternoon as anticipated, it was announced this morning by Lt. James E. Johnson, planning officer at the U. S. Naval Reserve Training Center, Poughkeepsie.

Johnson told The Freeman he was in receipt of a dispatch from the commandant of the Naval Operating Base, Norfolk, Va., ordering the vessel to anchor in the "stream." This means that the ship will probably drop its "hook"

Jackson Says President Should Clarify Statement

Washington, June 18 (AP)—Sen. Jackson (D.-Wash.) said today President Eisenhower "in fairness" ought to clarify his declaration that the State Department has his permission to burn books containing downright Communist propaganda.

Eisenhower made the statement at a news conference yesterday and, when asked, declined to say whether his gibe at "book burners," in a speech at Dartmouth College Sunday, was aimed at Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.). Eisenhower's reply was that he never deals in personalities.

McCarthy, who said he was sure he was not the target of Eisenhower's remark, said after the news conference:

"I think he has given a commendable clarification of the Dartmouth speech, which apparently has been misunderstood by many newsmen."

McCarthy amended the comment later to "misunderstood by many persons."

The President's denunciation of "book burners" had been interpreted widely as aimed at McCarthy's successful fight to remove from U. S. overseas libraries what the senator contends are "30,000 Communist books" by some 200 authors.

McCarthy said he doubted the Dartmouth speech could apply to

Rosenbergs' Case Is Heard Again

Washington, June 18 (AP)—The Supreme Court met at 11:12 a. m. (EST) today in an extraordinary session which will decide whether atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg must go to the electric chair tonight.

All nine justices were present.

Chief Justice Vinson called the court together to consider a petition by Atty. Gen. Brownell that they override the action yesterday of Justice William O. Douglas in granting a stay of execution to the husband and wife spy team.

In all its history, the court never before had been convened in special session for such a purpose.

If a majority agrees to overrule Douglas, the condemned atom spies could be put to death at Sing Sing Prison at 10 p. m. (EST) tonight as had been scheduled before Douglas issued his stay order or at any time before Saturday midnight.

The justices met in closed conference for 15 minutes before the start of the public session.

Vinson had called the session for noon, Washington time but the justices did not—as they almost always do—mount the bench at the stroke of 12. There was no immediate explanation for the delay. The momentous gathering attracted the largest crowd in the court's history. Some 1,000 persons lined the corridors outside as the justices entered the chamber.

The courtroom, which seats only about 300, was packed to capacity. Would-be spectators showed up as early as 8 a. m. (EST).

Before the public session began, it was announced that each side would have an hour and a half to present arguments.

Robert L. Stern, acting solicitor general, appeared for the government.

Stern began his argument two minutes after the court convened.

At Chief Justice Vinson's summons, the justices interrupted their summer recess to consider once again the case of the man and wife sentenced to die in Sing Sing's electric chair because, a jury found, they passed atomic secrets to Russia.

Justice Douglas, who decided yesterday that a legal point of sufficient substance to merit an indefinite stay of execution had been raised, first heard of the unusual session over a motel radio in Pennsylvania. He arranged to

Naval Ship Will Anchor in River; No City Landing

Change in Order Possibly Due to Tardy Arrival of Vessel Now on Training Cruise

The 180-foot PCE-895 with 100 men aboard will not dock in Rondout creek this afternoon as anticipated, it was announced this morning by Lt. James E. Johnson, planning officer at the U. S. Naval Reserve Training Center, Poughkeepsie.

Johnson told The Freeman he was in receipt of a dispatch from the commandant of the Naval Operating Base, Norfolk, Va., ordering the vessel to anchor in the "stream." This means that the ship will probably drop its "hook"

Jackson Says President Should Clarify Statement

Washington, June 18 (AP)—Sen. Jackson (D.-Wash.) said today President Eisenhower "in fairness" ought to clarify his declaration that the State Department has his permission to burn books containing downright Communist propaganda.

Eisenhower made the statement at a news conference yesterday and, when asked, declined to say whether his gibe at "book burners," in a speech at Dartmouth College Sunday, was aimed at Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.). Eisenhower's reply was that he never deals in personalities.

McCarthy, who said he was sure he was not the target of Eisenhower's remark, said after the news conference:

"I think he has given a commendable clarification of the Dartmouth speech, which apparently has been misunderstood by many newsmen."

McCarthy amended the comment later to "misunderstood by many persons."

The President's denunciation of "book burners" had been interpreted widely as aimed at McCarthy's successful fight to remove from U. S. oversees libraries what the senator contends are "30,000 Communist books" by some 200 authors.

McCarthy said he doubted the Dartmouth speech could apply to

Rosenbergs' Case Is Heard Again

Washington, June 18 (AP)—The Supreme Court met at 11:12 a. m. (EST) today in an extraordinary session which will decide whether atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg must go to the electric chair tonight.

All nine justices were present.

Chief Justice Vinson called the court together to consider a petition by Atty. Gen. Brownell that they override the action yesterday of Justice William O. Douglas in granting a stay of execution to the husband and wife spy team.

In all its history, the court never before had been convened in special session for such a purpose.

If a majority agrees to overrule Douglas, the condemned atom spies could be put to death at Sing Sing Prison at 10 p. m. (EST) tonight as had been scheduled before Douglas issued his stay order or at any time before Saturday midnight.

The justices met in closed conference for 15 minutes before the start of the public session.

Vinson had called the session for noon, Washington time but the justices did not—as they almost always do—mount the bench at the stroke of 12. There was no immediate explanation for the delay. The momentous gathering attracted the largest crowd in the court's history. Some 1,000 persons lined the corridors outside as the justices entered the chamber.

The courtroom, which seats only about 300, was packed to capacity. Would-be spectators showed up as early as 8 a. m. (EST).

Before the public session began, it was announced that each side would have an hour and a half to present arguments.

Robert L. Stern, acting solicitor general, appeared for the government.

Stern began his argument two minutes after the court convened.

At Chief Justice Vinson's summons, the justices interrupted their summer recess to consider once again the case of the man and wife sentenced to die in Sing Sing's electric chair because, a jury found, they passed atomic secrets to Russia.

Justice Douglas, who decided yesterday that a legal point of sufficient substance to merit an indefinite stay of execution had been raised, first heard of the unusual session over a motel radio in Pennsylvania. He arranged to

President Says He Has No Objection To Red Book Fires

Washington, June 17 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today it is all right with him if the State Department burns books which openly appeal for the Communist way of life.

The department can do as it pleases on that score, the President told a news conference.

He added he believes no one in this government should do anything which would contribute to destruction of the United States.

Eisenhower declined to say whether his attack on book burning in a speech at Dartmouth College Sunday was aimed at Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.).

McCarthy has been sharply criticizing the State Department for permitting books by Communist authors to be placed in libraries abroad operated by the U. S. Information Program.

Since the Eisenhower administration came into power, the department has ordered such books removed from these libraries.

McCarthy, in comment on Eisenhower's Sunday speech, told reporters yesterday that "he (Eisenhower) couldn't very well have been referring to me. I have burned no books."

FOUR-YEAR TERM FOR MAYOR

Next month there will be held the usual local unofficial political conventions at which time candidates for the offices to be voted upon this fall will be selected by the delegates to these conventions.

One of the offices to be voted upon in November will be that of Mayor of the City of Kingston. The candidate for this important office will be required to enter into a political campaign and if successful be rewarded with a two-year job. This we think is wrong.

Communities which had had notable successes in municipal government administration are those which have had long-range planning. Successful business enterprises likewise have been the result of long-range planning. The business of the city is one of the largest in the community and should receive the benefit of planning and development for a period longer than two years.

When the chief executive of the city circumscribes his thinking and his planning to the year after next when he will go again before the people and ask them to vote for him, the taxpayers who make possible the business of the city are being short changed.

With a four-year term, the mayor of the city can familiarize himself with the problems at hand and those anticipated in the future and lay the groundwork for their solution. Under a term of office restricted to two years, the chances of effective planning are very slim and especially when a large portion of the short term must be devoted to political thinking.

We believe it is good business to give the chief executive of a city an opportunity to arrange and organize a program covering several years.

The four-year term has been adopted in many cities throughout the state. We believe it is time that Kingston amended its charter for a four-year term for mayor.

Wars leave ugly or uncomfortable scars in many ways. Generations yet to come will feel the effect of World War II on the pocketbook. Substantially more than half the cost was based on borrowed funds.

AUSTRIAN TREATY DELAY

Russia has recently made a few concessions to the people of Austria but so far has remained adamant on the matter of granting that country a peace treaty. The United States, Britain and France, in notes to the Kremlin, have asked point blank just what terms Russia seeks for a peace treaty which would grant Austria full independence. The note pointed out that eight years have passed since the end of World War II and still the promise to restore Austrian independence, in which Moscow concurred, has not been fulfilled.

An Austrian peace treaty was one of the actions President Eisenhower asked of the Russian leaders in proof of the sincerity of their desire for peace. The peace campaign continues and millions of words have issued from the Kremlin about good will. But still the Austrian treaty is not a reality nor does it appear to be on its way to becoming one.

Apparently peace in Korea suits the purpose of the Russian rulers at the present time, just as war there suited their purposes when it began. Russia will agree to an Austrian treaty only when Russian interests can be advanced by granting it. In the meantime the world can be excused for being cynical about any supposed change of heart in the Kremlin.

Everyone seems to have tips for the lawn these days. It's just that the lawn doesn't always understand the way they are applied.

We usually don't object nearly so much to the fellow who makes a mistake as to the one who keeps on making it after he's discovered it.

The really intelligent person is the one who knows where knowledge leaves off and ignorance begins.

'These Days'

ROBERT A. TAFT

The illness of Senator Robert A. Taft leaves his party and the Senate without his objective leadership, which is essential to the conduct of national business. Taft has not only been a capable Senator, but his selfless devotion to his country has gained for him a stature unusual in these days of expediency. He has been the leader of the Senate during sessions in which either Republicans or Democrats had the majority because intelligent and patriotic Senators recognized his brilliant mind, his tremendous capacity for hard work and his objective morality.

Taft took his defeat at the Chicago convention without resentment. It was difficult for his partisans even to imitate his coldly objective appraisal of that situation. He did question the good taste of the shameless slogan "Thou Shalt Not Steal," a public relations stunt conceived by a vile mind. He insisted, however, that General Eisenhower could not have known that cheap underlings were using such unfair tactics, or he would have stopped them.

After the campaign, he took the position that when a member of a party enters a caucus or a convention, he is automatically bound by its decisions. A believer in political parties, undoubtedly recalling the harm done by the Bull Moose defection in his father's day, he has never respected the mugwump. He delivered almost as many speeches in the campaign as Eisenhower; he traveled throughout the country. His loyalty to his party's candidate came perhaps as a shock to some of the so-called amateurs who then surrounded Eisenhower.

But to the Republican Party, Taft's contribution in the 1952 campaign was of paramount importance. The party was split. The opponents of Governor Thomas E. Dewey were so bitter that they planned to sabotage the campaign and the election, not because they were opposed to Eisenhower but because they hated Dewey. Many even spoke of a Third Party.

Taft threw himself into the campaign with the object of uniting the party. It was not only a matter of speeches; he spoke to individual leaders, to his own partisans. Toward the latter group, he was adamant; one could not be loyal to him and not give Eisenhower full support. It was a remarkable performance in sportsmanship, rarely witnessed in American politics.

During the pre-convention and campaign periods, Taft was beset by deep personal grief. His wife, Martha, who had long been his political associate and mentor, a woman of ebullient wit, had been struck down by a prolonged illness from which she has never altogether recovered. They had campaigned together during his many years in politics; in 1952, he had to go it alone. Bob never complained, but when, at a little party, he wheeled Martha into the room, among his friends, it was possible to sense how deep was his disappointment.

Bob Taft is a singularly honest man. The truth is so usual to him that friends often worry at his habit of speaking his mind with almost a youthful lack of inhibition. Intellectually objective, he places the facts on the table, as it were, and one has to take them or leave them. He knows no cant and recognizes no need for polite palliation.

After Eisenhower was elected, Bob Taft's only concern was that he should succeed in the Presidency. Impatient of criticism of Eisenhower's inexperience with the intricacies of national civilian administration, he set out to aid the President in every possible way. For 20 years, the Republicans had waited for a Republican President and Taft rejected party differences and party squabbles. Knowing that a political group, long out of power, found it hard to coalesce into a united party, he diligently devoted himself to that task and succeeded beyond expectation. The friendship that developed between Taft and Eisenhower augured well for the Republican Party and the country.

His present illness is serious but not fatal and it is to be hoped that when Congress reconvenes in the fall, Taft will be able to lead it to the successful election of 1954. It probably was some satisfaction that he was nicknamed "Mr. Republican." During this past week, he must realize that to the entire Congress, to the men who work with him and know him best, Republican and Democrat alike, he is "The Beloved Senator."

Swift recovery, Bob. The country sorely needs forthright and honest men.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

SIMPLE METHOD OF TESTING HEART

Some years ago I accompanied a close relative to consult a noted heart specialist. After making all the usual tests—stethoscope, electrocardiograph, X-ray, fluoroscope—he had the patient sit down while he asked him questions. While the tests pointed to a normal heart except for a murmur, the heart specialist asked definite questions as to the location of the patient's home, whether it was all level walking for the half mile, whether this walking at usual rate of speed caused shortness of breath. In other words, the specialist was more interested in the patient's heart's working ability than what he learned from X-ray, fluoroscope and electrocardiograph.

In the Journal of the American Medical Association, Drs. Arthur M. Master, Leon Pordy, and Kenneth Cheskey, New York, describe their method of estimating the working ability of the heart by what is known as the two-step exercise.

"It is a simple test," they wrote, "easily done, necessitating the use of two steps, each 9 inches high. The number of trips to be made up and down the steps has been calculated and depends on age, weight, and sex of patient. In performing the single two-step test, the patient makes the necessary number of trips in one and one-half minutes. In the double two-step, twice the number of trips is made in a period of three minutes."

These physicians report a summary of 300 patients seen consecutively in private practice beginning in 1946. The majority of the patients complained of pain in the chest. The resting electrocardiograph was normal in all 300.

The patients were divided into two equal groups. The first group consisted of 150 patients with both negative single and negative double master two-step exercise tests. The second group consisted of 150 patients in whom either the single or double two-step exercise electrocardiograph was positive. Positive meant shortness of breath sooner than normal. Both groups were frequently examined or questioned.

Among the group of 150 patients with negative single and double two-step, 86 patients (nearly 60 per cent) had spontaneous attacks of coronary occlusion or insufficiency, either before or after the exercise test, was found to be positive. Twelve deaths occurred among these patients—ten as a result of coronary occlusion (thrombosis).

This Master two-step is also useful in examination of firemen, policemen, taxi drivers, train engineers, pilots and officers in the Armed Forces, and in any person exposed to undue mental and physical strain. "It is particularly valuable in compensation work and life insurance disability."

Why Worry About Your Heart?

Why Does He Always Leave Things in Such a Mess?

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington (NEA) — Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay was called on recently by his predecessor, Oscar Chapman. Chapman said he didn't want anything, just called to pay his respects.

"Sit down! Sit down!" urged Secretary McKay. "If you just called to pay respects, you're probably the only man in the country who has any respect for me."

They chatted a few minutes, and then as Chapman was leaving, Secretary McKay said: "You didn't tell me, when you briefed me on this job, that I'd have to work at it 18 hours a day."

Bans High-Test Gas

All government automobiles and trucks have been ordered to tank up on regular instead of premium-grade gasoline, in an effort to cut down on expenses. This is the second time General Services Administration has put through the no-high-test-gas order.

The ban was on all during World War 2 and for four years thereafter, but it was lifted in 1949. Only exceptions now will be for G-men, T-men, Secret Service, fire fighters, military and other government law enforcement cars, or vehicles built for high-octane operation.

Grim Reaper Hurt Dems

Republican control of the U. S. Senate in the Eisenhower administration can be attributed to death, according to Democrats on Capitol Hill. The deaths of two Democratic senators before the election was responsible for the change in political control.

The senators were Brien McMahon of Connecticut in 1952 and Virgil Chapman of Kentucky in 1951. Had they lived, McMahon would have served until 1957, Chapman till 1955.

In special elections to fill their seats, Republicans Prescott Bush of Connecticut and John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky were elected. That gave the Republicans control of the Senate, 48 to 47, with one independent. If McMahon and Chapman had lived to serve out their terms, the standing today would be 49 Democrats, 46 Republicans and one Independent.

Nothing Works

Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith told a Foreign Service Association meeting in Washington about a trip he made to a collective farm, while he was U. S. ambassador to Moscow.

"On our way in," said General Smith, "our interpreter stopped to speak a few words to a very old Russian woman who was cutting brush with a sickle along the road. He said to her among other things, 'Mother, how are things on the farm?'

" 'Ah! They are terrible!' she answered. 'On this farm nothing works. The tractors don't work. The plows don't work. The trucks don't work. The only thing on the farm that works has just made a heroine of Soviet motherhood.' "

Silence on H-Bomb Energy

No peacetime use of the energy released in a hydrogen bomb has yet been disclosed. Closest thing to a leak on this subject came when Prof. Harold Urey of Chicago University, one of the pioneers in development of the original atomic bomb and a Nobel prize winner was quizzed on a discussion panel.

Asked if there were any commercial applications for H-bomb energy, Professor Urey declared he had just attended a conference on this subject, but the results were classified as secret, so he couldn't talk about them.

Atomic Energy Commission does have four reports from private electric and chemical companies in the use of nuclear energy for commercial development of power. The catch is that to release the reports would give away present U. S. plutonium production rates.

French Ship of State Lists

Here's a French explanation of why France has such an unstable government, with ministries falling faster than Americans can keep track of them:

"Take the American Constitution: delete the individual U. S. states, then delete the President, delete the Supreme Court, and delete the Senate. Keep only the House of Representatives.

"Entrust to the House and to it alone and fully the sovereign rights of the people. Let the House draw from its own ranks a committee whose members would be the cabinet heads, in charge of all executive duties. Let the House have the power to remove this cabinet at its pleasure.

"That is the French constitution."

Ching's Not Talking

Cyrus S. Ching, retiring head of Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, has opened a private office in Washington to serve as a consultant on labor relations. He's being urged to write a book on his experiences in settling industrial disputes, and is considering it.

But his inclination is to stay away from too much writing. National Planning Association once asked Mr. Ching to write a pamphlet. It was to explain how he was able to manage labor relations at U. S. Rubber Co. from 1920 to 1942 without a strike. Mr. Ching turned down the offer, explaining that if he did that labor union officials would know all his secrets and might deliberately set out to destroy his technique.

Lockheed Aircraft and Libbey-Owens-Ford did permit case studies of their labor relations program to be made for National Planning Association. Both companies had excellent labor records. But after the pamphlets came out, they both became involved in labor disputes.

"It's a good bit like a man trying to write a book about how he gets along with his wife," Mr. Ching explains. "As soon as his wife reads it, she'll begin to see through some of the things he's been doing, and she won't trust him any more."

Courteous (Ouch!) Dig

Under the guise of courtesy, congressmen can really shove some pretty sharp barbs at each other and get away with it. Here's a recent exchange between Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon and Sen. Wallace Bennett of Utah:

Mr. Morse—"Mr. President, will the senator from Utah yield to me for two minutes . . .?"

Mr. Bennett — "The senator from Utah will be happy to yield to the senator from Oregon for two minutes—if the senator can count two."

Mr. Morse—"The senator would be quite surprised."

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

June 18, 1933—Miss Eleanor C. Rosekrans, who had been a public school teacher here for 53 years, announced plans to retire when the school term ended.

James Ledwith died in Saugerties.

June 18, 1943—County Republican Chairman Roscoe V. Elsworth announced that the unofficial county Republican convention would be held June 26 at the municipal auditorium.

Sgt. John A. Hopkins, of Ellenville, the first man appointed to the N. Y. State Police, had applied for retirement after serving 26 years.

The county and city Democratic caucuses were scheduled to be held June 21.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 18—The most important news in the world today is not the Rosenberg case or the "book burning" controversy or even the Red offensive in Korea. It is the fact that Germans inside Soviet jurisdiction have demonstrated so vigorously that the Communists had to turn machine guns and tanks against them.

For this may be the beginning of the much-discussed "liberation" movement through which alone there can be an overthrow of totalitarianism and the attainment of a peace without tension.

The riots that have been reported, not only from East Germany's zone under Soviet rule but from Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia and other points behind the Iron Curtain, are significant of a deep unrest which at any moment can become the revolution that must take place in Soviet Russia itself before there can be safety for the democracies of the world.

The latest disturbances may be quelled by force, but they will have left their imprint. The fact that thousands have stood up to the machine guns is indicative of the mood of defiance of millions of others. It will be said that the Soviet armies can always put down such rebellious movements. But it may be asked what happens when the troops in the Soviet Army begin to be rebellious themselves—when they refuse to fire on innocent persons who are striking against a government that takes away their farms and their food and reduces their incomes?

The mutiny at Kiel in 1918 was a small affair in itself, but it touched off the revolution that caused the Kaiser to flee from Germany to Holland. The little revolution in 1917 which had overthrown the Russian Czar could not have become nationwide so quickly without the support of the rank and file of the Russian Army itself.

For several years now in America there has been a steady emphasis on the idea of supporting a liberation movement in Europe so as to attract the peoples of Soviet Russia and her satellites. This writer has repeatedly referred in these dispatches to that movement as a constructive program for America to aid. When last summer, during the presidential campaign, General Eisenhower proclaimed his interest in "liberation" of oppressed peoples, he was promptly assailed by large sections of the British and European press and by political opponents at home, including Secretary Acheson, as favoring American intervention by force of arms behind the Iron Curtain.

John Foster Dulles, who was looked upon at the time as likely to be secretary of state, clarified the point in a speech by insisting that the United States was not seeking to start any wars but merely was eager to lend moral support to any liberation movements that might be begun. Nevertheless in European circles, particularly Britain, it became fashionable to pooh-pooh the whole liberation idea as impractical and unwise. It was argued that such outbreaks as might be encouraged would result in a needless loss of life and premature uprisings.

But the critics failed to exercise their imaginations — they could see only intervention by force of arms. They did not perceive that popular sentiment, once aroused, can spread in such proportions that the police come over to the side of the rebelling people. It is the idea of keeping alive the spirit of liberation, and keeping up hopes and informing oppressed peoples that on this side of the Iron Curtain are friends ready to help them at the opportune moment which is basic in the whole "liberation" concept.

The point of view was quickly grasped by President Wilson in 1917 when he told the world that America was not making war on the German people but on their autocratic government. The German people ultimately revolted. Today it needs to be said that the American government and its allies are not building armament to use against the peoples of Soviet Russia and of the satellite states but against the imperialism of a small group of evil men who rule from Moscow.

The riots and uprisings confirm the fact that a liberty-loving people will not indefinitely tolerate despotism, and it may well be proved by subsequent developments that, when 200,000,000 people in Soviet Russia want to get rid of a tyrannical government, they can do so without an extensive civil war and by virtually a bloodless revolution.

Tyranny begets enemies, active and passive, and the more innocent persons are shot down by machine guns, the more the seeds of a greater revolt are sown. Big developments seem to be on the horizon in Europe—and the peace that the world yearns for may not be as far away as it has seemed. The Soviet rulers have been bluffing the UN in the Far East and in Europe. Maybe the allies will see the true Soviet weakness now.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Mrs. John J. McGraw and Arthur Mann, a professional inmate of the baseball press-coops for many years, have given us the best among many biographies of teams and individuals and of the game itself. The title is "The Real McGraw." It is even better than my own "autobiography" of Babe Ruth, 80,000 words of rippling prose and timetable statistics, run up on the mechanical writer in collaboration with George Buchanan Fife, of the New York Evening World, about 1920. It has a right to be. We had had only one 15-minute interview with Ruth and wadded out our opus with kapok from Spalding's Guide and the envelopes from the morgue.

Mrs. McGraw was married to Mac for 32 years, from 1902 when Father Cornelius Thomas, of St. Ann's, Baltimore, in his parting admonition, said: "Let selfishness be no barrier to your happiness but understand that each must give up much, renounce himself, that both may enjoy delightful fruit. For you know that it is the sacrifice hit that adds to the number of runs and wins the game."

In baseball, as perhaps in matrimony, too, the sacrifice was more commonly practiced then.

Many of us knew McGraw as a hard, brutal man when drunk, but had heard the standard contrast of the open-handed, sentimental weep-easy. This, however, is the first treatise on a historic American personality which has been able to endear him to me at all.

Mrs. McGraw would not have hurt her story or her husband by touching upon his awful physical tumults with John Slavin, the musical comedy actor, whom he slugged with a bottle in the Lambs' Club, and with Wilton Lackaye, the dressy straight man who called at the McGraw apartment to ameliorate things and landed at the bottom of the stairs with not only his walking stick but one of his legs all smashed.

These incidents and others, including Mac's embroilment with a real estate promotion in Florida which made it prudent for him to stay away from the Giants for most of a spring training season, were the nip and zing of a wild yet righteous and affectionate man. He was a devil in drink and had a perverse preference for mischievous Broadway characters including one who was, by and large, a blackmailer and gentle grafter. He was also a great athlete and a completely determined fighter who could absolutely lose himself in the swirl of competition and fight until there was nothing left to fight for. He certainly left his footprints in the sands of his own time, and of his traits, courage, determination, and a zeal for perfection that spurned the very idea of compromise, were dominant.

He was the undersized son of an Irish immigrant who had fought in the Civil War and settled at Truxton, N. Y., in 1877, to a life of hardship and sorrow. This poor man's first wife had died leaving him with a little girl. His second wife, little Mac's mother, went out in a black diphtheria plague, followed in a few weeks by four of the nine children. The father was earning $9 for a 60-hour week as a minor prince of privilege in a maintenance crew of the Elmira, Cortland and Northern Railway. Mere section hands, the unskilled kind, got only a dollar a day. The black diphtheria was a familiar dread at the turn of the century. A family living in slop alley by the Minneapolis car barns lost, as I recall the case, seven members in a few days about 1902. Mrs. McGraw's doctor had gone to her side from a diphtheria case in the hills to deliver her of a baby, Nellie, who somehow came through it all.

The father now moved the five remaining children to a little house on Main street, Truxton, but already little John was showing signs of his obsession with baseball, a nonsense unfit for compare with Irish hurling in which a man could hit a head with his bat if the ball was out of reach. And when one evening a neighbor came demanding another 15 cents for another window knocked out by a ball, John McGraw cornered little Mac and

They consented to go to court and be convicted of violating communicable disease health ordinances in order to get the treatment.

FOUR-YEAR TERM FOR MAYOR

Next month there will be held the usual local unofficial political conventions at which time candidates for the offices to be voted upon this fall will be selected by the delegates to these conventions.

One of the offices to be voted upon in November will be that of Mayor of the City of Kingston. The candidate for this important office will be required to enter into a political campaign and if successful be rewarded with a two-year job. This we think is wrong.

Communities which had had notable successes in municipal government administration are those which have had long-range planning. Successful business enterprises likewise have been the result of long-range planning. The business of the city is one of the largest in the community and should receive the benefit of planning and development for a period longer than two years.

When the chief executive of the city circumscribes his thinking and his planning to the year after next when he will go again before the people and ask them to vote for him, the taxpayers who make possible the business of the city are being short changed.

With a four-year term, the mayor of the city can familiarize himself with the problems at hand and those anticipated in the future and lay the groundwork for their solution. Under a term of office restricted to two years, the chances of effective planning are very slim and especially when a large portion of the short term must be devoted to political thinking.

We believe it is good business to give the chief executive of a city an opportunity to arrange and organize a program covering several years.

The four-year term has been adopted in many cities throughout the state. We believe it is time that Kingston amended its charter for a four-year term for mayor.

Wars leave ugly or uncomfortable scars in many ways. Generations yet to come will feel the effect of World War II on the pocketbook. Substantially more than half the cost was based on borrowed funds.

AUSTRIAN TREATY DELAY

Russia has recently made a few concessions to the people of Austria but so far has remained adamant on the matter of granting that country a peace treaty. The United States, Britain and France, in notes to the Kremlin, have asked point blank just what terms Russia seeks for a peace treaty which would grant Austria full independence. The note pointed out that eight years have passed since the end of World War II and still the promise to restore Austrian independence, in which Moscow concurred, has not been fulfilled.

An Austrian peace treaty was one of the actions President Eisenhower asked of the Russian leaders in proof of the sincerity of their desire for peace. The peace campaign continues and millions of words have issued from the Kremlin about good will. But still the Austrian treaty is not a reality nor does it appear to be on its way to becoming one.

Apparently peace in Korea suits the purpose of the Russian rulers at the present time, just as war there suited their purposes when it began. Russia will agree to an Austrian treaty only when Russian interests can be advanced by granting it. In the meantime the world can be excused for being cynical about any supposed change of heart in the Kremlin.

Everyone seems to have tips for the lawn these days. It's just that the lawn doesn't always understand the way they are applied.

We usually don't object nearly so much to the fellow who makes a mistake as to the one who keeps on making it after he's discovered it.

The really intelligent person is the one who knows where knowledge leaves off and ignorance begins.

'These Days'

ROBERT A. TAFT

The illness of Senator Robert A. Taft leaves his party and the Senate without his objective leadership, which is essential to the conduct of national business. Taft has not only been a capable Senator, but his selfless devotion to his country has gained for him a stature unusual in these days of expediency. He has been the leader of the Senate during sessions in which either Republicans or Democrats had the majority because intelligent and patriotic Senators recognized his brilliant mind, his tremendous capacity for hard work and his objective morality.

Taft took his defeat at the Chicago convention without resentment. It was difficult for his partisans even to imitate his coldly objective appraisal of that situation. He did question the good taste of the shameless slogan "Thou Shalt Not Steal," a public relations stunt conceived by a vile mind. He insisted, however, that General Eisenhower could not have known that cheap underlings were using such unfair tactics, or he would have stopped them.

After the campaign, he took the position that when a member of a party enters a caucus or a convention, he is automatically bound by its decisions. A believer in political parties, undoubtedly recalling the harm done by the Bull Moose defection in his father's day, he has never respected the mugwump. He delivered almost as many speeches in the campaign as Eisenhower; he traveled throughout the country. His loyalty to his party's candidate came perhaps as a shock to some of the so-called amateurs who then surrounded Eisenhower.

But to the Republican Party, Taft's contribution in the 1952 campaign was of paramount importance. The party was split. The opponents of Governor Thomas E. Dewey were so bitter that they planned to sabotage the campaign and the election, not because they were opposed to Eisenhower but because they hated Dewey. Many even spoke of a Third Party.

Taft threw himself into the campaign with the object of uniting the party. It was not only a matter of speeches; he spoke to individual leaders, to his own partisans. Toward the latter group, he was adamant; one could not be loyal to him and not give Eisenhower full support. It was a remarkable performance in sportsmanship, rarely witnessed in American politics.

During the pre-convention and campaign periods, Taft was beset by deep personal grief. His wife, Martha, who had long been his political associate and mentor, a woman of ebullient wit, had been struck down by a prolonged illness from which she has never altogether recovered. They had campaigned together during his many years in politics; in 1952, he had to go it alone. Bob never complained, but when, at a little party, he wheeled Martha into the room, among his friends, it was possible to sense how deep was his disappointment.

Bob Taft is a singularly honest man. The truth is so usual to him that friends often worry at his habit of speaking his mind with almost a youthful lack of inhibition. Intellectually objective, he places the facts on the table, as it were, and one has to take them or leave them. He knows no cant and recognizes no need for polite palliation.

After Eisenhower was elected, Bob Taft's only concern was that he should succeed in the Presidency. Impatient of criticism of Eisenhower's inexperience with the intricacies of national civilian administration, he set out to aid the President in every possible way. For 20 years, the Republicans had waited for a Republican President and Taft rejected party differences and party squabbles. Knowing that a political group, long out of power, found it hard to coalesce into a united party, he diligently devoted himself to that task and succeeded beyond expectation. The friendship that developed between Taft and Eisenhower augured well for the Republican Party and the country.

His present illness is serious but not fatal and it is to be hoped that when Congress reconvenes in the fall, Taft will be able to lead it to the successful election of 1954. It probably was some satisfaction that he was nicknamed "Mr. Republican." During this past week, he must realize that to the entire Congress, to the men who work with him and know him best, Republican and Democrat alike, he is "The Beloved Senator."

Swift recovery, Bob. The country sorely needs forthright and honest men.

That Body of Yours

SIMPLE METHOD OF TESTING HEART

Some years ago I accompanied a close relative to consult a noted heart specialist. After making all the usual tests—stethoscope, electrocardiograph, X-ray, fluoroscope—he had the patient sit down while he asked him questions. While the tests pointed to a normal heart except for a murmur, the heart specialist asked definite questions as to the location of the patient's home, whether it was all level walking for the half mile, whether this walking at usual rate of speed caused shortness of breath. In other words, the specialist was more interested in the patient's heart's working ability than what he learned from X-ray, fluoroscope and electrocardiograph.

In the Journal of the American Medical Association, Drs. Arthur M. Master, Leon Pordy, and Kenneth Cheskey, New York, describe their method of estimating the working ability of the heart by what is known as the two-step exercise.

"It is a simple test," they wrote, "easily done, necessitating the use of two steps, each 9 inches high. The number of trips to be made up and down the steps has been calculated and depends on age, weight, and sex of patient. In performing the single two-step test, the patient makes the necessary number of trips in one and one-half minutes. In the double two-step, twice the number of trips is made in a period of three minutes."

These physicians report a summary of 300 patients seen consecutively in private practice beginning in 1946. The majority of the patients complained of pain in the chest. The resting electrocardiograph was normal in all 300.

The patients were divided into two equal groups. The first group consisted of 150 patients with both negative single and negative double master two-step exercise tests. The second group consisted of 150 patients in whom either the single or double two-step exercise electrocardiograph was positive. Positive meant shortness of breath sooner than norrmal. Both groups were frequently examined or questioned.

Among the group of 150 patients with negative single and double two-step, 86 patients (nearly 60 per cent) had spontaneous attacks of coronary occlusion or insufficiency, either before or after the exercise test, was found to be positive. Twelve deaths occurred among these patients—ten as a result of coronary occlusion (thrombosis).

This Master two-step is also useful in examination of firemen, policemen, taxi drivers, train engineers, pilots and officers in the Armed Forces, and in any person exposed to undue mental and physical strain. "It is particularly valuable in compensation work and life insurance disability."

Why Does He Always Leave Things in Such a Mess?

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington (NEA) — Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay was called on recently by his predecessor, Oscar Chapman. Chapman said he didn't want anything, just called to pay his respects.

"Sit down! Sit down!" urged Secretary McKay. "If you just called to pay respects, you're probably the only man in the country who has any respect for me."

They chatted a few minutes, and then as Chapman was leaving, Secretary McKay said: "You didn't tell me, when you briefed me on this job, that I'd have to work at it 18 hours a day."

Bans High-Test Gas

All government automobiles and trucks have been ordered to tank up on regular instead of premium-grade gasoline, in an effort to cut down on expenses. This is the second time General Services Administration has put through the no-high-test-gas order.

The ban was on all during World War 2 and for four years thereafter, but it was lifted in 1949. Only exceptions now will be for G-men, T-men, Secret Service, fire fighters, military and other government law enforcement cars, or vehicles built for high-octane operation.

Grim Reaper Hurt Dems

Republican control of the U. S. Senate in the Eisenhower administration can be attributed to death, according to Democrats on Capitol Hill. The deaths of two Democratic senators before the election was responsible for the change in political control.

The senators were Brien McMahon of Connecticut in 1952 and Virgil Chapman of Kentucky in 1951. Had they lived, McMahon would have served until 1957, Chapman till 1955.

In special elections to fill their seats, Republicans Prescott Bush of Connecticut and John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky were elected. That gave the Republicans control of the Senate, 48 to 47, with one independent. If McMahon and Chapman had lived to serve out their terms, the standing today would be 49 Democrats, 46 Republicans and one Independent.

Nothing Works

Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith told a Foreign Service Association meeting in Washington about a trip he made to a collective farm, while he was U. S. ambassador to Moscow.

"On our way in," said General Smith, "our interpreter stopped to speak a few words to a very old Russian woman who was cutting brush with a sickle along the road. He said to her among other things, 'Mother, how are things on the farm?'

" 'Ah! They are terrible!' she answered. 'On this farm nothing works. The tractors don't work. The plows don't work. The trucks don't work. The only thing on the farm that works has just made a heroine of Soviet motherhood.' "

Silence on H-Bomb Energy

No peacetime use of the energy released in a hydrogen bomb has yet been disclosed. Closest thing to a leak on this subject came when Prof. Harold Urey of Chicago University, one of the pioneers in development of the original atomic bomb and a Nobel prize winner was quizzed on a discussion panel.

Asked if there were any commercial applications for H-bomb energy, Professor Urey declared he had just attended a conference on this subject, but the results were classified as secret, so he couldn't talk about them.

Atomic Energy Commission does have four reports from private electric and chemical companies in the use of nuclear energy for commercial development of power. The catch is that to release the reports would give away present U. S. plutonium production rates.

French Ship of State Lists

Here's a French explanation of why France has such an unstable government, with ministries falling faster than Americans can keep track of them:

"Take the American Constitution: delete the individual U. S. states, then delete the President, delete the Supreme Court, and delete the Senate. Keep only the House of Representatives.

"Entrust to the House and to it alone and fully the sovereign rights of the people. Let the House draw from its own ranks a committee whose members would be the cabinet heads, in charge of all executive duties. Let the House have the power to remove this cabinet at its pleasure.

"That is the French constitution."

Ching's Not Talking

Cyrus S. Ching, retiring head of Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, has opened a private office in Washington to serve as a consultant on labor relations. He's being urged to write a book on his experiences in settling industrial disputes, and is considering it.

But his inclination is to stay away from too much writing. National Planning Association once asked Mr. Ching to write a pamphlet. It was to explain how he was able to manage labor relations at U. S. Rubber Co. from 1920 to 1942 without a strike. Mr. Ching turned down the offer, explaining that if he did that labor union officials would know all his secrets and might deliberately set out to destroy his technique.

Lockheed Aircraft and Libbey-Owens-Ford did permit case studies of their labor relations program to be made for National Planning Association. Both companies had excellent labor records. But after the pamphlets came out, they both became involved in labor disputes.

"It's a good bit like a man trying to write a book about how he gets along with his wife," Mr. Ching explains. "As soon as his wife reads it, she'll begin to see through some of the things he's been doing, and she won't trust him any more."

Courteous (Ouch!) Dig

Under the guise of courtesy, congressmen can really shove some pretty sharp barbs at each other and get away with it. Here's a recent exchange between Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon and Sen. Wallace Bennett of Utah:

Mr. Morse—"Mr. President, will the senator from Utah yield to me for two minutes . . .?"

Mr. Bennett — "The senator from Utah will be happy to yield to the senator from Oregon for two minutes—if the senator can count two."

Mr. Morse—"The senator would be quite surprised."

Hospital Attractive

Richmond, Va. (AP)—Some Virginians have deliberately had themselves convicted of misdemeanors to find a bed in a ward for treatment of tuberculosis. Dr. William J. West, state prison farm surgeon, said eight persons, unable to get treatment in overcrowded sanitoria, are now receiving it at the prison farm. They consented to go to court and be convicted of violating communicable disease health ordinances in order to get the treatment.

June 18, 1943—County Republican Chairman Roscoe V. Elsworth announced that the unofficial county Republican convention would be held June 26 at the municipal auditorium.

Sgt. John A. Hopkins, of Ellenville, the first man appointed to the N. Y. State Police, had applied for retirement after serving 26 years.

The Men Who Marry Flowers

Widows among the Kultas of Sambalpur, India, may marry again, but any man desirous to marry a widow must first marry a white rose which may be used for no other purpose. He must stay married to the flower for ten years, after which he may divorce the flower and marry the widow.

Today in Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 18—The most important news in the world today is not the Rosenberg case or the "book burning" controversy or even the Red offensive in Korea. It is the fact that Germans inside Soviet jurisdiction have demonstrated so vigorously that the Communists had to turn machine guns and tanks against them.

For this may be the beginning of the much-discussed "liberation" movement through which alone there can be an overthrow of totalitarianism and the attainment of a peace without tension.

The riots that have been reported, not only from East Germany's zone under Soviet rule but from Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia and other points behind the Iron Curtain, are significant of a deep unrest which at any moment can become the revolution that must take place in Soviet Russia itself before there can be safety for the democracies of the world.

The latest disturbances may be quelled by force, but they will have left their imprint. The fact that thousands have stood up to the machine guns is indicative of the mood of defiance of millions of others. It will be said that the Soviet armies can always put down such rebellious movements. But it may be asked what happens when the troops in the Soviet Army begin to be rebellious themselves—when they refuse to fire on innocent persons who are striking against a government that takes away their farms and their food and reduces their incomes?

The mutiny at Kiel in 1918 was a small affair in itself, but it touched off the revolution that caused the Kaiser to flee from Germany to Holland. The little revolution in 1917 which had overthrown the Russian Czar could not have become nationwide so quickly without the support of the rank and file of the Russian Army itself.

For several years now in America there has been a steady emphasis on the idea of supporting a liberation movement in Europe so as to attract the peoples of Soviet Russia and her satellites. This writer has repeatedly referred in these dispatches to that movement as a constructive program for America to aid. When last summer, during the presidential campaign, General Eisenhower proclaimed his interest in "liberation" of oppressed peoples, he was promptly assailed by large sections of the British and European press and by political opponents at home, including Secretary Acheson, as favoring American intervention by force of arms behind the Iron Curtain.

John Foster Dulles, who was looked upon at the time as likely to be secretary of state, clarified the point in a speech by insisting that the United States was not seeking to start any wars but merely was eager to lend moral support to any liberation movements that might be begun. Nevertheless in European circles, particularly Britain, it became fashionable to pooh-pooh the whole liberation idea as impractical and unwise. It was argued that such outbreaks as might be encouraged would result in a needless loss of life and premature uprisings.

But the critics failed to exercise their imaginations — they could see only intervention by force of arms. They did not perceive that popular sentiment, once aroused, can spread in such proportions that the police come over to the side of the rebelling people. It is the idea of keeping alive the spirit of liberation, and keeping up hopes and informing oppressed peoples that on this side of the Iron Curtain are friends ready to help them at the opportune moment which is basic in the whole "liberation" concept.

The point of view was quickly grasped by President Wilson in 1917 when he told the world that America was not making war on the German people but on their autocratic government. The German people ultimately revolted. Today it needs to be said that the American government and its allies are not building armament to use against the peoples of Soviet Russia and of the satellite states but against the imperialism of a small group of evil men who rule from Moscow.

The riots and uprisings confirm the fact that a liberty-loving people will not indefinitely tolerate despotism, and it may well be proved by subsequent developments that, when 200,000,000 people in Soviet Russia want to get rid of a tyrannical government, they can do so without an extensive civil war and by virtually a bloodless revolution.

Tyranny begets enemies, active and passive, and the more innocent persons are shot down by machine guns, the more the seeds of a greater revolt are sown. Big developments seem to be on the horizon in Europe—and the peace that the world yearns for may not be as far away as it has seemed. The Soviet rulers have been bluffing the UN in the Far East and in Europe. Maybe the allies will see the true Soviet weakness now.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Mrs. John J. McGraw and Arthur Mann, a professional inmate of the baseball press-coops for many years, have given us the best among many biographies of teams and individuals and of the game itself. The title is "The Real McGraw." It is even better than my own "autobiography" of Babe Ruth, 80,000 words of rippling prose and timetable statistics, run up on the mechanical writer in collaboration with George Buchanan Fife, of the New York Evening World, about 1920. It has a right to be. We had had only one 15-minute interview with Ruth and wadded out our opus with kapok from Spalding's Guide and the envelopes from the morgue.

Mrs. McGraw was married to Mac for 32 years, from 1902 when Father Cornelius Thomas, of St. Ann's, Baltimore, in his parting admonition, said: "Let selfishness be no barrier to your happiness but understand that each must give up much, renounce himself, that both may enjoy delightful fruit. For you know that it is the sacrifice hit that adds to the number of runs and wins the game."

In baseball, as perhaps in matrimony, too, the sacrifice was more commonly practiced then.

Many of us knew McGraw as a hard, brutal man when drunk, but had heard the standard contrast of the open-handed, sentimental weep-easy. This, however, is the first treatise on a historic American personality which has been able to endear him to me at all.

Mrs McGraw would not have hurt her story or her husband by touching upon his awful physical tumults with John Slavin, the musical comedy actor, whom he slugged with a bottle in the Lambs' Club, and with Wilton Lackaye, the dressy straight man who called at the McGraw apartment to ameliorate things and landed at the bottom of the stairs with not only his walking stick but one of his legs all smashed.

These incidents and others, including Mac's embroilment with a real estate promotion in Florida which made it prudent for him to stay away from the Giants for most of a spring training season, were the nip and zing of a wild yet righteous and affectionate man. He was a devil in drink and had a perverse preference for mischievous Broadway characters including one who was, by and large, a blackmailer and gentle grafter. He was also a great athlete and a completely determined fighter who could absolutely lose himself in the swirl of competition and fight until there was nothing left to fight for. He certainly left his footprints in the sands of his own time, and of his traits, courage, determination, and a zeal for perfection that spurned the very idea of compromise, were dominant.

He was the undersized son of an Irish immigrant who had fought in the Civil War and settled at Truxton, N. Y., in 1877, to a life of hardship and sorrow. This poor man's first wife had died leaving him with a little girl. His second wife, little Mac's mother, went out in a black diphtheria plague, followed in a few weeks by four of the nine children. The father was earning $9 for a 60-hour week as a minor prince of privilege in a maintenance crew of the Elmira, Cortland and Northern Railway. Mere section hands, the unskilled kind, got only a dollar a day. The black diphtheria was a familiar dread at the turn of the century. A family living in slop alley by the Minneapolis car barns lost, as I recall the case, seven members in a few days about 1902. Mrs. McGraw's doctor had gone to her side from a diphtheria case in the hills to deliver her of a baby, Nellie, who somehow came through it all.

The father now moved the five remaining children to a little house on Main street, Truxton, but already little John was showing signs of his obsession with baseball, a nonsense unfit for compare with Irish hurling in which a man could hit a head with his bat if the ball was out of reach. And when one evening a neighbor came demanding another 15 cents for another window knocked out by a ball, John McGraw cornered little Mac and

Plan Announced To Aid Amateurs

The current Do-It-Yourself boom sweeping the country has not by-passed Kingston, according to William C. Schryver, lumber dealer at 363 Foxhall avenue, who announced a plan for furnishing plans and instructions for amateur carpenters.

Schryver said he has available patterns and plans that give step by step directions for building anything from a six room house to a sandbox, books illustrating before and after pictures of hundreds of what he called "house beautiful miracles."

The local dealer said he has complete working plans for any home improvement and will suppy these aids and estimated cost of materials without obligation.

"We'll also furnish advice on any project, large or small," Schryver said.

"Families are finding it good fun to pitch in and work together over the weekends, and even the youngsters get into the act," he added.

"Farmers are taking advantage of these long 'daylight saving evenings," Schryver remarked, "to paint up and fix farm buildings; insulating poultry houses; installing ventilation systems in dairy barns, and making all sorts of additions and improvements."

Schryver said "more folks are discovering that a little work teamed up with the right materials goes a long way towards making their homes more livable and valuable," as he stressed the invitation for a visit to his plant.

Steel Price Hike Seen as Starting Additional Jumps

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 17 (AP)—U. S. Steel Corporation boosted steel prices an average of $4 a ton today, presaging industry-wide hikes which could send the nation's living costs spiraling.

Big Steel's action came five days after it granted an 8½ cent hourly pay increase to 170,000 employes represented by the CIO United Steelworkers.

It is the first rise in basic steel prices since a 55-day strike last summer which ended after the union won a 21½ cent hourly pay package increase. U. S. Steel said the hike will mean a price of about $120 a ton.

Other steel producers are expected to follow U. S. Steel's lead and raise prices. They probably will adhere to a similar scale. However, President C. M. White of Republic Steel Corp. says his firm plans an increase of $5 to $10 a ton.

More for Consumer to Pay

Industry-wide steel price boosts may be reflected in higher price tags for the many thousands of items which are made of steel. It is unlikely that manufacturers will absorb any such hikes, meaning the consumer ultimately may have to pay more for everything from pins to refrigerators.

Three more basic steel producers signed agreements with the USW yesterday giving nearly 35,000 workers an 8½ cent an hour wage increase. They are Sharon Steel Corp., Wheeling Steel Corp. and Pittsburgh Steel Company.

This brought to 10 the number of firms signed up, including U. S. Steel which set the pattern last Friday. About 420,000 of the union's estimated 600,000 members in basic steel now are under new wage pacts. They had been averaging from $2.06 to $2.16 an hour.

Poughkeepsie Man Held in Florida For Abandonment

Miami, Fla., June 17 (AP)—Edwin Freiwald, 31, who told his wife he was going out for a loaf of bread and disappeared three days before Christmas, 1950, was ordered held under $2,500 bond for return to Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Freiwald was arrested here Sunday on an indictment charging him with abandoning a pregnant wife. Detective D. O. MacDonald who made the arrest, gave this account of how coincidence trapped Edwin:

Freiwald told his pregnant wife, Anastasia, he was going out for a loaf of bread. It was snowing at the time but he never came back.

Came in With Blonde

Shortly afterward their son Edwin Jr., was born, but still no sign of Freiwald and the loaf of bread.

Mrs. Freiwald came to Florida a couple of weeks ago to visit friends in nearby Hollwood. The friends suggested driving to Miami for dinner.

While they were in a restaurant, who should walk in but Edwin, with a blonde. Anastasia called police.

A justice of the peace set bond at $2,500 yesterday and Edwin was transferred to county jail to await return to Poughkeepsie.

Geddes Smith Dies

New York, June 17 (AP)—Geddes Smith, 63, editor and philanthropic aide died in St. Luke's Hospital yesterday. He had been rushed to the hospital from his home in Palisades. After service with the Red Cross and U. S. Army in World War 1, Smith became organizing secretary of the National Information Survey which supplied information to charities. He was managing editor of the survey, a magazine, from 1922 to 1926. In 1926 he joined the Commonwealth Fund, a philanthropic foundation concerned with health, as publications director of its child health demonstration committee. For many years he had been the fund's executive associate, a policy-making post. Smith was co-author of several books, including "Child Guidance Clinics; a Quarter Century of Development."

Freedom Is Granted

Augusta, Me., June 17 (AP)—Freedom under bail—a rarity under a murder charge in Maine—has been granted a Colby College co-ed accused of murdering her unwanted baby girl. Miss Harriet Sart, 21, of Nahant, Mass., posted $10,000 bail yesterday for Superior Court appearance next October. Miss Sart pleaded innocent in Municipal Court at Waterville. A baby's body was found Sunday in a trunk bearing Miss Sart's name, in her college dormitory basement.

Steel Price Hike Seen as Starting Additional Jumps

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 17 (AP)—U. S. Steel Corporation boosted steel prices an average of $4 a ton today, presaging industry-wide hikes which could send the nation's living costs spiraling.

Big Steel's action came five days after it granted an 8½ cent hourly pay increase to 170,000 employes represented by the CIO United Steelworkers.

It is the first rise in basic steel prices since a 55-day strike last summer which ended after the union won a 21½ cent hourly pay package increase. U. S. Steel said the hike will mean a price of about $120 a ton.

Other steel producers are expected to follow U. S. Steel's lead and raise prices. They probably will adhere to a similar scale. However, President C. M. White of Republic Steel Corp. says his firm plans an increase of $5 to $10 a ton.

More for Consumer to Pay

Industry-wide steel price boosts may be reflected in higher price tags for the many thousands of items which are made of steel. It is unlikely that manufacturers will absorb any such hikes, meaning the consumer ultimately may have to pay more for everything from pins to refrigerators.

Three more basic steel producers signed agreements with the USW yesterday giving nearly 35,000 workers an 8½ cent an hour wage increase. They are Sharon Steel Corp., Wheeling Steel Corp. and Pittsburgh Steel Company.

This brought to 10 the number of firms signed up, including U. S. Steel which set the pattern last Friday. About 420,000 of the union's estimated 600,000 members in basic steel now are under new wage pacts. They had been averaging from $2.06 to $2.16 an hour.

Poughkeepsie Man Held in Florida For Abandonment

Miami, Fla., June 17 (AP)—Edwin Freiwald, 31, who told his wife he was going out for a loaf of bread and disappeared three days before Christmas, 1950, was ordered held under $2,500 bond for return to Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Freiwald was arrested here Sunday on an indictment charging him with abandoning a pregnant wife. Detective D. O. MacDonald who made the arrest, gave this account of how coincidence trapped Edwin:

Freiwald told his pregnant wife, Anastasia, he was going out for a loaf of bread. It was snowing at the time but he never came back.

Came in With Blonde

Shortly afterward their son Edwin Jr., was born, but still no sign of Freiwald and the loaf of bread.

Mrs. Freiwald came to Florida a couple of weeks ago to visit friends in nearby Hollwood. The friends suggested driving to Miami for dinner.

While they were in a restaurant, who should walk in but Edwin, with a blonde. Anastasia called police.

A justice of the peace set bond at $2,500 yesterday and Edwin was transferred to county jail to await return to Poughkeepsie.

Geddes Smith Dies

New York, June 17 (AP)—Geddes Smith, 63, editor and philanthropic aide died in St. Luke's Hospital yesterday. He had been rushed to the hospital from his home in Palisades. After service with the Red Cross and U. S. Army in World War 1, Smith became organizing secretary of the National Information Survey which supplied information to charities. He was managing editor of the survey, a magazine, from 1922 to 1926. In 1926 he joined the Commonwealth Fund, a philanthropic foundation concerned with health, as publications director of its child health demonstration committee. For many years he had been the fund's executive associate, a policy-making post. Smith was co-author of several books, including "Child Guidance Clinics; a Quarter Century of Development."

Freedom Is Granted

Augusta, Me., June 17 (AP)—Freedom under bail—a rarity under a murder charge in Maine—has been granted a Colby College co-ed accused of murdering her unwanted baby girl. Miss Harriet Sart, 21, of Nahant, Mass., posted $10,000 bail yesterday for Superior Court appearance next October. Miss Sart pleaded innocent in Municipal Court at Waterville. A baby's body was found Sunday in a trunk bearing Miss Sart's name, in her college dormitory basement.

Unlike a standard regular-trim 10-inch rib roast, A&P's 7-inch close-trimmed "Super-Right" Rib Roast is sold WITHOUT short ribs, heavy blade ribs and excess fat and chine bone. These are removed before weighing so that you get just the tender, juicy heart of the roast at no greater total cost to you even though the price per pound is higher than the regular-trim, 10-inch cut.

7-IN. CUT 55c LB

If you prefer to have the short ribs left on your roast you can, of course, buy a standard 10-inch cut. It will cost you less per pound than a close-trimmed 7-inch cut because the short ribs are not removed before weighing.

Last Thursday night, a regular meeting of the teachers and officers of the Wallkill Reformed Sunday school was held at the home of Mrs. Louise Parliman. The meeting was opened by Frederick C. Terwilliger, superintendent, after which the group recited the Lord's Prayer. The secretary and treasurer's reports were read and approved by the group. It was decided July would be film month, and the upper classes would have films, and the younger group under the charge of Mrs. Jesse McHugh would have slides. Mr. Terwilliger reported that he had contacted the school, and their equipment would be made available to the Sunday school. It was also decided that during August lessons would be discontinued and the Sunday school would be closed for a vacation period. Lessons will resume Sept. 6. Discussion followed on the Sunday school picnic and Joseph F. Doolittle was named general chairman. The group decided to hold the picnic at Hedden's Beach Tuesday, July 7. In the event of rain, the picnic will be held the following day, Wednesday, July 8. Mrs. Arthur Fox and Miss Joyce McHugh were named chairman of the Rally Day program to be held the last Sunday in September. The meeting was then adjourned by Walter N. Van Popering.

South thought he had a pretty strong trump suit in today's hand, but poor play on his part and excellent defense by the opponents proved that the trumps weren't really strong enough.

West opened the ten of diamonds, and declarer made his first mistake when he won immediately with dummy's ace. South's plan for his contract was very simple. He intended to ruff two clubs in the dummy, after which he would give up two diamonds and the ace of trumps.

At the second trick, therefore, declarer switched to clubs, cashing the king and then the ace. He next ruffed the nine of clubs in dummy, cashed the ace of hearts, and ruffed a heart to return to his own hand.

When South led his last club, West followed with the queen, and dummy had to ruff with the ten in order to shut out a possible overruff. South next led a trump, forcing out West's ace with the king.

Everything seemed to be going according to plan, until West led another diamond, and East was unkind enough to take two diamond tricks and then continue with still another diamond.

When the fourth round of diamonds was led through South, declarer discovered that he had to lose a second trump trick. If he ruffed low, West would overruff immediately; and if South ruffed high, West's eight of trumps would surely take a trick later on.

The correct line of play, as indicated earlier, is to refuse the first trick. If diamonds are continued (a strong possibility), declarer wins in dummy with the ace of diamonds, takes the king and ace of clubs, and then leads the nine of clubs from his hand. When West plays low, dummy's last diamond is discarded!

South doesn't care if this trick happens to lose to the queen of clubs. He will then be able to ruff a diamond and draw trumps.

Actually, the nine of clubs would hold the trick. South would then ruff his last diamond in dummy, cash the ace of hearts and ruff a heart, and ruff his last club with dummy's ten of spades.

He would then be able to use his last low spade to ruff a heart, after which he could cheerfully concede the ace of spades.

As Pegler Sees It

whaled him so hard that the kid packed his stuff and took refuge with Mrs. Goddard, who ran the hotel. His stuff included his study-books and these were De Witt's Baseball Guides for 1875 and 1876, and Spalding's Constitution and Playing Rules, Brady's Dime Baseball Player and Our Boys' Baseball Rules, all for 1877.

When little Mac's father ran him to earth, Mrs. Goddard talked him off with promises that John would go to Mass if she had to take him herself. The kid became a chore-boy on his way to other small jobs and ultimate status as an American of good importance. He was a candy-butcher on the local trains, he delivered the Elmira Telegram to farmers in bitter winter and he won a one-dollar portion of a $10 bet by pitching a ball underhand which passed to the right of two stakes, 20 feet apart, and was caught to the left of a third stake, 20 feet beyond the second, an early demonstration of the out-curve.

McGraw and Hugh Jennings held theoretical sessions at night and, Mrs. McGraw says, "countless daytime field experiments followed in this summer of 1893." They measured each other's speed from first to second against Wilbert Robinson's throw to second. One would stand on second and shout when he caught the throw. Another would mark the farthest progress. They measured the leads off first, the slides and the speed from first to third. They tested speed from home to first against different speeds of rolling balls down the third base line. They practiced hitting to spots vacated when either shortstop or second baseman ran to cover second. John and Hugh hit thousands of fungoes to each other even after a hard game to correct fielding mistakes.

The secret was that McGraw loved to play baseball and was a born competitor.

His widow speaks of him throughout the book as "that boy and the baseball" who, in her opinion, "could be neither destroyed nor denied."

"Defeat was his mortal enemy. All else was minor. Without victory, without a team of fighting, hustling players to create victory, baseball had no meaning.

"By the same token, life without baseball had little meaning. It was his meat, his drink, his dream, his blood and breath, his reason for existence."

South thought he had a pretty strong trump suit in today's hand, but poor play on his part and excellent defense by the opponents proved that the trumps weren't really strong enough.

West opened the ten of diamonds, and declarer made his first mistake when he won immediately with dummy's ace. South's plan for his contract was very simple. He intended to ruff two clubs in the dummy, after which he would give up two diamonds and the ace of trumps.

At the second trick, therefore, declarer switched to clubs, cashing the king and then the ace. He next ruffed the nine of clubs in dummy, cashed the ace of hearts, and ruffed a heart to return to his own hand.

When South led his last club, West followed with the queen, and dummy had to ruff with the ten in order to shut out a possible overruff. South next led a trump, forcing out West's ace with the king.

Everything seemed to be going according to plan, until West led another diamond, and East was unkind enough to take two diamond tricks and then continue with still another diamond.

When the fourth round of diamonds was led through South, declarer discovered that he had to lose a second trump trick. If he ruffed low, West would overruff immediately; and if South ruffed high, West's eight of trumps would surely take a trick later on.

The correct line of play, as indicated earlier, is to refuse the first trick. If diamonds are continued (a strong possibility), declarer wins in dummy with the ace of diamonds, takes the king and ace of clubs, and then leads the nine of clubs from his hand. When West plays low, dummy's last diamond is discarded!

South doesn't care if this trick happens to lose to the queen of clubs. He will then be able to ruff a diamond and draw trumps.

Actually, the nine of clubs would hold the trick. South would then ruff his last diamond in dummy, cash the ace of hearts and ruff a heart, and ruff his last club with dummy's ten of spades.

He would then be able to use his last low spade to ruff a heart, after which he could cheerfully concede the ace of spades.

Actress Has Daughter

Los Angeles, June 18 (AP)—It's a daughter for actress Ruth Hussey and her husband, Robert Longencker, a television agent and performer. The 6-pound, 7-ounce baby was born yesterday at Good Samaritan Hospital. The couple has two other children, Robbie, 9, and John 6.

Miss Sarah Trotter, back from the Coronation, says the next big business boom in London should be in the sale of mothballs, as the thousands of fur-trimmed robes and fancy uniforms she saw are put away.

As Pegler Sees It

whaled him so hard that the kid packed his stuff and took refuge with Mrs. Goddard, who ran the hotel. His stuff included his study-books and these were De Witt's Baseball Guides for 1875 and 1876, and Spalding's Constitution and Playing Rules, Brady's Dime Baseball Player and Our Boys' Baseball Rules, all for 1877.

When little Mac's father ran him to earth, Mrs. Goddard talked him off with promises that John would go to Mass if she had to take him herself. The kid became a chore-boy on his way to other small jobs and ultimate status as an American of good importance. He was a candy-butcher on the local trains, he delivered the Elmira Telegram to farmers in bitter winter and he won a one-dollar portion of a $10 bet by pitching a ball underhand which passed to the right of two stakes, 20 feet apart, and was caught to the left of a third stake, 20 feet beyond the second, an early demonstration of the out-curve.

McGraw and Hugh Jennings held theoretical sessions at night and, Mrs. McGraw says, "countless daytime field experiments followed in this summer of 1893." They measured each other's speed from first to second against Wilbert Robinson's throw to second. One would stand on second and shout when he caught the throw. Another would mark the farthest progress. They measured the leads off first, the slides and the speed from first to third. They tested speed from home to first against different speeds of rolling balls down the third base line. They practiced hitting to spots vacated when either shortstop or second baseman ran to cover second. John and Hugh hit thousands of fungoes to each other even after a hard game to correct fielding mistakes.

The secret was that McGraw loved to play baseball and was a born competitor.

His widow speaks of him throughout the book as "that boy and the baseball" who, in her opinion, "could be neither destroyed nor denied."

"Defeat was his mortal enemy. All else was minor. Without victory, without a team of fighting, hustling players to create victory, baseball had no meaning.

"By the same token, life without baseball had little meaning. It was his meat, his drink, his dream, his blood and breath, his reason for existence."

Cloonan Stresses Strict Observance Of Watering Hours

It was stressed today by Edmund T. Cloonan, superintendent of the Kingston Water Department, that a water conservation program is definitely needed in this city to relieve shortages in the higher sections.

Cloonan said the situation is growing more serious because of excessive use of water for sprinkling lawns and gardens, and because of water taps that are let run when water is not needed.

The water superintendent laid stress on the hours designated for sprinkling, and recommended that they be observed. Cloonan said the regulation specifies that sprinkling may be done between 7 and 9 a. m. and between 7 and 9 p. m.

To Investigate Complaints

Any watering of lawns outside these hours is illegal, he said, and informed the press that all complaints would be investigated.

"It is essential that the regulation be observed," he said, "not alone from the standpoint of supplying families with adequate water for home use, but from the angle of having sufficient water in case of fire on the higher points in the city."

Cloonan said he hoped the appeal of the water board for conservation would be heeded by the public, and he went further to say that "if desired results are not obtained, we will take further measures" to enforce the sprinkling regulation.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, June 16—Mrs. Howard Richard and three-year-old son Paul came up from their Manhattan home Friday with Mr. Richards to remain at their place in the village center for the summer months. Howard and his assistant, Eddie Brace, placed new gutters and leaders on the house during the weekend.

Ernest Gardner retires as commander of Olive Post, American Legion, after a successful year's tenure. William Frankle of West Shokan is new commander of the post. First and second vice commanders are Irving Hesley and Simeon Trowbridge.

Mrs. Fred Brooks, the former Neva Fenny of Boiceville, came down from Phoenicia to attend the Sunday afternoon services at the Olive and Hurley O.S. Baptist meetinghouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Casablanca and son Vincent of Washington Heights were at their village place for the weekend. Bernard, one time manager of the Ashokan baseball team, improved his property by laying a front walk of broken flagstones. Guests of the Casablancas Sunday were the following relatives from the Bronx: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Calagna and children, Marie and Lawrence, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mariere and their children Frank and Vivien.

Anniversaries falling Saturday, June 20, include that of Fred and Ethel (Barley) Haver, Ashokan residents and natives of the Samsonville area, who were married 38 years ago. Two of the couple's children, Robert Haver and Mrs. Gordon Miller, reside in this section.

The annual fair and supper of the WSCS of the Ashokan Methodist Church will take place this year Wednesday, July 22, at the church hall in the lower village.

A road block staged by troopers and state officials on Route 145 near Cairo, Greene county, recently enriched Empire state coffers by the sizeable sum of $2,500 in fines for truck violations. The round the clock checkup lasted three days and resulted in the apprehension of 70 truck-law violators. That was the payoff for stopping a total of 1,016 trucks. A casual observer here would reckon that the figure represents average trucking traffic passing through Shokan over the Onteora Trail during just one day's 'round the clock.'

Charles R. Lucht, who resides at Laurel Hill Farm, West Shokan, celebrated his 85th birthday Saturday night at the homes of his sons, Harry and Howard, in West Englewood, N. J. At a dinner attended by about 200 people at the historic old North Church in Dumont Lucht was presented with a gigantic cake. Later, at a review staged in the auditorium he was given a prize as the oldest person in the audience—a kiss from each of the dozen girls in the revue. On the following day Lucht was surprised with a visit from his grandson, Allan Lucht, of Cleveland, O., with his family. Later, photographs were taken of four generations of the family. Lucht has been a resident of West Shokan for the past 25 years where he resides at the home of Mrs. Charles Wood.

Mrs. Walter Zanis and daughter, Anna, of Kentucky, are visiting Mrs. Zanis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ruckert of the village center.

The Ashokan Methodist Sunday school will hold its annual Children's Day program Sunday evening, June 21, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

The Shokan-Ashokan servicemen's memorial on the O. S. Baptist meetinghouse grounds has a brand new flag, much larger than the old one which was run up for the first time Sunday morning by Lester Lawrence and son James.

George Kelder, who has resided on the south side of the reservoir since removing from Shokan, was a caller in the village Saturday. George is one of the county's pioneer taxicab operators and as a young man he also conducted a lunch room on the site of the Stuyvesant Hotel.

Birthdays coming along soon include that of Alonzo Winne, Ashokan mountain road resident, who will be 78 years old Thursday, June 18. Lon, formerly local section foreman of the U & D Railroad, saw the Ashokan depot built some 40 years ago and this spring saw it moved away.

The John Grants were at their summer place for the weekend. John, who is assistant manager of the Hotel Commodore in New York, bought a scythe and snathe for mowing the weeds and grass around his summer place and in this ancient art he will be coached by his father-in-law Joshua Bell, formerly a farmer in the Whiteport area for many years.

A group of Intermediate Girl Scouts are now meeting weekly at the Olive Legion Post's headquarters in Ashokan under the guidance of Margaret Savage of Brown's.

The Preston Hollow correspondent of the Green County Examiner, who recently related the story about a local woman flooring a savage fox with her scrub bucket, now comes up with one on a snake-fish. Seems that Earl Potter of the Hollow shot a large snake out of a tree which when opened was found host to a 7-inch rainbow trout. A snake swallowing a legal-limit trout sounds reasonable but how the reptile managed to climb a tree while thus encumbered is something of a poser. Or how does any snake get up a tree for that matter?

Elder Amasa Slauson of Kingston preached in the Old School Baptist meetinghouse Sunday afternoon. Among the out of town people attending were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Adsit of Neversink. The Adsits were accompanied here by Rachael Beesmer, Olive Bridge resident.

Barbecue Set Saturday

The annual charcoal broiled beef barbecue of Adonai Lodge, 718, F&AM of Highland, will be held Saturday, June 20, from 4:30 p. m. to 7:30 p. m. on the lawn of the lodge grounds. In the event of rain, the barbecue will be held in Pavero's Cooler on the North road, and not in the lodge building as previously announced. This change has been made necessary by the large advance sale of tickets. Should it become necessary to hold the barbecue in the cooler adequate parking facilities will be available.

Fair Street Man Has Unique Model Railroad System

A two-rail electric model railroad system, considered a fairly recent development among most model railroad enthusiasts, has been in operation in Kingston at least 50 years.

The unique system is owned and operated by George J. Schryver at his home on Fair street.

Track is made from steel one-half inch bands such are used to hold packages together for freight shipment. These strips are set on end on wooden ties, and switches and a turntable are built from these bands. Stone ballast is used between the rails.

Each car and locomotive is equipped with a semi-circle band projecting from the floor level, and in reversing operations, these band-buffers slide sideways and do not cause derailments. For coupling, large heavy staples are dropped over these hand buffers and hold the cars together.

Florida Sands Included

Three locomotives are on the roster, all the 0-4-0 type with high stacks. There are three passenger cars, freight equipment including five various types of cars plus a wrecking crane that operates with motor on three different operations and a unique gear arrangement.

Equipment, all of which was made by Schryver with the exception of the engine, includes bridge, water tank, tunnel, fuel oil tank, trailer delivery trucks, grain elevator, aeration basin, farms with cattle, forest, lake with fishing boats, swimming beach with real Florida sand and shells.

Hike Is Authorized

Washington, June 17 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today authorized a 36 per cent increase in parcel post zone rates. The rate advance is to be applied on a date fixed by the Post Office Department. The increase is expected to add about 140 million dollars to charges for handling packages in the postal service. Parcel post zone rates cover the vast bulk of the package mailing service used by the general public.

Barbecue Set Saturday

The annual charcoal broiled beef barbecue of Adonai Lodge, 718, F&AM of Highland, will be held Saturday, June 20, from 4:30 p. m. to 7:30 p. m. on the lawn of the lodge grounds. In the event of rain, the barbecue will be held in Pavero's Cooler on the North road, and not in the lodge building as previously announced. This change has been made necessary by the large advance sale of tickets. Should it become necessary to hold the barbecue in the cooler adequate parking facilities will be available.

Fair Street Man Has Unique Model Railroad System

A two-rail electric model railroad system, considered a fairly recent development among most model railroad enthusiasts, has been in operation in Kingston at least 50 years.

The unique system is owned and operated by George J. Schryver at his home on Fair street.

Track is made from steel one-half inch bands such are used to hold packages together for freight shipment. These strips are set on end on wooden ties, and switches and a turntable are built from these bands. Stone ballast is used between the rails.

Each car and locomotive is equipped with a semi-circle band projecting from the floor level, and in reversing operations, these band-buffers slide sideways and do not cause derailments. For coupling, large heavy staples are dropped over these hand buffers and hold the cars together.

Florida Sands Included

Three locomotives are on the roster, all the 0-4-0 type with high stacks. There are three passenger cars, freight equipment including five various types of cars plus a wrecking crane that operates with motor on three different operations and a unique gear arrangement.

Equipment, all of which was made by Schryver with the exception of the engine, includes bridge, water tank, tunnel, fuel oil tank, trailer delivery trucks, grain elevator, aeration basin, farms with cattle, forest, lake with fishing boats, swimming beach with real Florida sand and shells.

Hike Is Authorized

Washington, June 17 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today authorized a 36 per cent increase in parcel post zone rates. The rate advance is to be applied on a date fixed by the Post Office Department. The increase is expected to add about 140 million dollars to charges for handling packages in the postal service. Parcel post zone rates cover the vast bulk of the package mailing service used by the general public.

Would Prevent Profanity

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 17 (AP) — The Christian Reformed Church wants President Eisenhower to "curb and prevent" profanity in the armed forces. A petition to that effect was dispatched by the church synod at its session here yesterday. It commended the President for his "sense of the need for Divine guidance" as evidence in his inaugural day prayer.

Reports Car Killed Deer

A report at the sheriff's office Wednesday said Harry Speisman driving a truck for the New York Bakery, 39 East Union street, struck and killed a deer that ran in front of his vehicle on the Onteora Trail. The sheriff's record, written by Deputy George A. Reynolds of Woodstock at 6 a. m., while he was on duty at the Ulster county jail, said the front of the truck was damaged considerably. Game Warden Philip Gillen was notified and took the deer.

Annulment Is Unknown

Paris, June 17 (AP)—Sloan Simpson said today she did not know whether The Vatican had annulled her marriage with former New York mayor William O'Dwyer. Asked whether their annulment was among the 74 approved Monday by The Vatican, the former model replied, "not as far as I know." Says Happiness Disproved

Washington, June 17 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the Berlin uprisings are a significant thing in that they disprove Communist stories of happy peoples behind the Iron Curtain.

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

The long-awaited break in pork prices finally came this week. In some instances prices slipped as much as 20 cents a pound after nudging the dollar-a-pound level earlier in the month. Most other basic meat and dairy products showed little overall change on a nation-wide basis, but retail prices of top-grade eggs were uniformly higher.

Consumer resistance which for a time threatened to assume the proportions of a buyers' strike was credited with knocking down the retail price of center cut pork chops from 95 cents a pound to 75 cents in many New York city supermarkets.

Biggest Cuts on Coast

Elsewhere around the country, reductions ranging from 2 to 10 cents a pound were posted by one major food chain, with the biggest price cuts concentrated along the Atlantic coast. Market analysts said the downturn resulted from a build-up of pork supplies at retail which could be traced to buyer resistance.

Poultry figured prominently in weekend promotions in many food centers around the nation. Turkeys were featured in the east; broilers and fryers in virtually all major retail areas. Beef continued a good buy in most parts of the country.

Egg Prices Advance

Egg prices advanced as much as four cents a dozen for the large grade "A" variety in some chain stores, making a total increase of about nine cents a dozen during the last two weeks.

With the advent of warmer weather in many growing areas, produce counters displayed a greater variety of new crop fruits and vegetables of improved quality and flavor and at more attractive prices.

Good buys included cantaloupes, cherries and plums from California, pineapples from Puerto Rico and strawberries from almost everywhere. The season's first California peaches and nectarines headed for big city markets this week, while Freestone peaches from Georgia and the Carolinas appeared in greater quantity in many produce stores. Watermelon continued plentiful. Most citrus fruits, notably oranges and grapefruit, were a shade higher this week. Limes and lemons were a little lower in price, however. Spinach, beets, carrots, iceberg lettuce, baby peas and California white potatoes were featured on vegetable counters.

Products Are Listed

As its top food headliners for the week, the U. S. Department of Agriculture listed beef and dairy products, with emphasis on milk, butter and cheese.

What's happened to food prices since decontrol?

"It is pleasing to report that since removal of government price controls, retail food prices have remained generally stable with declines on some important items," says Paul S. Willis, president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America.

The average level of food prices has been drifting downward for the past nine months, he notes, with prices last month four per cent below the August 1952 peak and more than two per cent under May last year. Cheaper than last year, he points out, are beef, lamb, canned salmon, potatoes, milk, lard, butter, margarine, canned peaches, frozen peas and frozen strawberries.

Regarding the future, Willis says, "I believe that with adequate raw food supplies on hand and in prospect, retail food prices will remain stable with perhaps some declines on individual products."

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

The long-awaited break in pork prices finally came this week. In some instances prices slipped as much as 20 cents a pound after nudging the dollar-a-pound level earlier in the month. Most other basic meat and dairy products showed little overall change on a nation-wide basis, but retail prices of top-grade eggs were uniformly higher.

Consumer resistance which for a time threatened to assume the proportions of a buyers' strike was credited with knocking down the retail price of center cut pork chops from 95 cents a pound to 75 cents in many New York city supermarkets.

Biggest Cuts on Coast

Elsewhere around the country, reductions ranging from 2 to 10 cents a pound were posted by one major food chain, with the biggest price cuts concentrated along the Atlantic coast. Market analysts said the downturn resulted from a build-up of pork supplies at retail which could be traced to buyer resistance.

Poultry figured prominently in weekend promotions in many food centers around the nation. Turkeys were featured in the east; broilers and fryers in virtually all major retail areas. Beef continued a good buy in most parts of the country.

Egg Prices Advance

Egg prices advanced as much as four cents a dozen for the large grade "A" variety in some chain stores, making a total increase of about nine cents a dozen during the last two weeks.

With the advent of warmer weather in many growing areas, produce counters displayed a greater variety of new crop fruits and vegetables of improved quality and flavor and at more attractive prices.

Good buys included cantaloupes, cherries and plums from California, pineapples from Puerto Rico and strawberries from almost everywhere. The season's first California peaches and nectarines headed for big city markets this week, while Freestone peaches from Georgia and the Carolinas appeared in greater quantity in many produce stores. Watermelon continued plentiful. Most citrus fruits, notably oranges and grapefruit, were a shade higher this week. Limes and lemons were a little lower in price, however. Spinach, beets, carrots, iceberg lettuce, baby peas and California white potatoes were featured on vegetable counters.

Products Are Listed

As its top food headliners for the week, the U. S. Department of Agriculture listed beef and dairy products, with emphasis on milk, butter and cheese.

What's happened to food prices since decontrol?

"It is pleasing to report that since removal of government price controls, retail food prices have remained generally stable with declines on some important items," says Paul S. Willis, president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America.

The average level of food prices has been drifting downward for the past nine months, he notes, with prices last month four per cent below the August 1952 peak and more than two per cent under May last year. Cheaper than last year, he points out, are beef, lamb, canned salmon, potatoes, milk, lard, butter, margarine, canned peaches, frozen peas and frozen strawberries.

Regarding the future, Willis says, "I believe that with adequate raw food supplies on hand and in prospect, retail food prices will remain stable with perhaps some declines on individual products."

Hike in Crude Oil May Cause Increase In Gasoline Cost

Houston, June 18 (AP)—You may soon be paying a penny more a gallon for gasoline for your car.

The added cent would be the industry's way of passing on to you the higher prices it began paying this week for crude oil in the field.

Phillips Petroleum Company started the crude oil price increases Monday by announcing it would pay 25 cents a barrel more. Other crude oil buyers have been falling in line, some with boosts even up to 35 cents a barrel, all week.

Those increases are for prices which the big oil companies pay for the crude oil which they then ship to their refineries. The crude is broken down into gasoline, kerosene, Diesel fuel, motor oil and other products.

Refined Products Advance

Yesterday came the first indication of how much of the increase will be passed on to the motorist at his service station. The Continental Oil Company was the first to increase prices of the refined products.

Continental posted tankwagon and cargo increases of about one cent a gallon on gasolines, one-half to one cent on kerosene, a half cent on heating oils and 24 cents a barrel on residual fuel oils.

Because Continental is one of the larger petroleum marketers, its new price schedule may set the pattern. Although more or less uniform retail price increases are expected, retail gasoline prices will still vary greatly from state to state. That's because of the difference in amounts of state taxes.

Warns on Fireworks

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren today issued notice that the sale of any type of fireworks or firecrackers is illegal, and those who violate this law, which has been effective for several years, will be subject to police action. Police have received reports indicating that some youngsters have had firecrackers, and he warned that the department will apprehend anyone who sells, possesses or transports any kind of fireworks.

Walkout in Second Day

New York, June 18 (AP)—The "no-contract-no work" walkout by CIO National Maritime Union (NMU), entered its second day today, threatens to tie up 50 per cent of American shipping in east and gulf coast ports. Incoming ships manned by NMU members were due to be idled on arrival. As many as 750 vessels and 40,000 crewmen may be involved unless an early settlement is reached.

stiller Reports otleg Whiskey sguised Cleverly

w York, June 18 (AP)—Boot-rs are making whiskey so ully disguised that experts t they can't distinguish it legitimate stock, a state ex-committee hearing was told rday.

lliam W. Wachtel, president 'alvert Distillers Corp., dis-d two dozen bottles, some with labels of well-known brands. He said all had been purchased in unlicensed places and were "refills" containing bootleg whiskey.

The seals and stamps had been carefully removed when the bottles were opened and replaced after the refilling with illegal booze, he said.

Industry officials, state legislators and members of the State Liquor Authority were present at the hearing, called in line with the move to tighten laws against illegal liquor.

R. E. Joyce, vice president of the National Distillers Products Corp., told the group: "We will have moonshiners and bootleggers, and it is growing. We are rapidly returning to the days of lawlessness which plagued us during the Prohibition era."

Industry speakers said the increase in bootlegging since World War 2 has been caused by greatly increased federal taxes, inadequate federal enforcement personnel, inadequacy of state laws dealing with bootlegging, and public apathy.

He Reverses His Name

Seoul, June 18 (AP)—South Korea's No. 1 soldier reversed his name today. His recent visit to the United States was the reason. Gen. Paik Sun Yup, army chief of staff had followed the Korean practice of using his last name first. The proper way to address him was General Paik. However, in the United States, one of the general's aides said, people called him General Yup on his recent one-month visit. So today, the 32-year-old general requested the press to use his name as "Gen. Sun Yup Paik." Maybe now, he will be called General Paik.

Truman Seeks Work

Kansas City, June 18 (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman said the "Democratic party is, and always has been, a going concern, and expressed once more his intention to work in the party's "ranks if they let me."

stiller Reports otleg Whiskey sguised Cleverly

w York, June 18 (AP)—Bootrs are making whiskey so ully disguised that experts t they can't distinguish it legitimate stock, a state excommittee hearing was told rday.

lliam W. Wachtel, president 'alvert Distillers Corp., dis- d two dozen bottles, some with labels of well-known brands. He said all had been purchased in unlicensed places and were "refills" containing bootleg whiskey.

The seals and stamps had been carefully removed when the bottles were opened and replaced after the refilling with illegal booze, he said.

Industry officials, state legislators and members of the State Liquor Authority were present at the hearing, called in line with the move to tighten laws against illegal liquor.

R. E. Joyce, vice president of the National Distillers Products Corp., told the group: "We will have moonshiners and bootleggers, and it is growing. We are rapidly returning to the days of lawlessness which plagued us during the Prohibition era."

Industry speakers said the increase in bootlegging since World War 2 has been caused by greatly increased federal taxes, inadequate federal enforcement personnel, inadequacy of state laws dealing with bootlegging, and public apathy.

He Reverses His Name

Seoul, June 18 (AP)—South Korea's No. 1 soldier reversed his name today. His recent visit to the United States was the reason. Gen. Paik Sun Yup, army chief of staff had followed the Korean practice of using his last name first. The proper way to address him was General Paik. However, in the United States, one of the general's aides said, people called him General Yup on his recent one-month visit. So today, the 32-year-old general requested the press to use his name as "Gen. Sun Yup Paik." Maybe now, he will be called General Paik.

Truman Seeks Work

Kansas City, June 18 (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman said the "Democratic party is, and always has been, a going concern, and expressed once more his intention to work in the party's "ranks if they let me."

15 Fire Companies Plan to Take Part In Ulster Parade

Fifteen county fire companies have already indicated they will participate in the convention parade of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association in the town of Ulster next month, it was announced at the association's meeting in Centerville last night.

The firemen were guests of the Saxton, Mt. Marion-Ruby, and Centerville fire companies at the latter's fire station.

The convention is to be held July 16, 17 and 18. The supper will be served on the first night at St. James Church, Kingston, with entertainment to follow at the municipal auditorium, the business meeting will be held the second night in the firehouse of Ulster Hose Company, town of Ulster, and the parade is scheduled to start at 2 p. m., on Saturday, the third day.

Keator Election Anticipated

Leon Keator, of New Paltz, now first vice-president of the association, is expected to be elected president to replace Percy Bush, of the town of Ulster, and Ralph Clark, of Marlborough is in line for first vice-president.

The parade will start near the state armory in the Manor avenue area and will end at the Kingston-Ulster Airport in the Boice's Lane area. The line of march will be announced.

The association adjourned in respect to William B. Martin, of Kingston, who died this week.

Obliterated Hurons

The Iroquois Indians virtually obliterated the Huron Indians in 1649-50, including in the slaughter some white missionaries who were living in Huron territory at the time.

New Legion Head Accepts Gavel

Saccoman Urges Strong Membership To Gain Benefits

At the annual election and installation of officers, last night, Attorney Thomas Saccoman, 75 O'Neil street, became commander of Kingston Post, 150, American Legion, and in his speech of acceptance urged a strong membership "for greater strength in fighting for benefits which belong to veterans who have fought to make democracy the watchword throughout the world."

Saccoman, a World War 2 veteran with four years of service, takes over the post occupied by John A. Weber, a World War 1 man, whose report for the year reflected a successful term in office, and expressed appreciation to all of the committees and Legionnaires who cooperated with him.

The full slate of officers elected to serve with Commander Saccoman is made up of:

New Officers

Edward Snyder, Harry Kingsburg and Anthony Erena, vice commanders; Howard Stephens, Jr,. treasurer; Andrew J. Murphy, Jr., adjutant; the Rev. Clarence E. Brown, chaplain; Harold Bunting, historian; Charles W. Shultis, welfare officer; Donald G. Moore, service officer; Thomas Maines, athletic officer; Robert B. Turner, sergeant-at-arms; Ervin DeWitt, Andrew J. Murphy 3rd, Morton Finch and Bernhardt S. Kramer, members of the executive committee; Paul Hyatt, trustees for three years.

Installing officer was Andrew J. Murphy 3rd, past commander of Kingston Post, who presented a past commander's pin with jewels to John A. Weber as retiring head of the local post.

Weber was high in his praise of Legionnaires who helped during his commandership, and paid special tribute to all who assisted in promoting the annual Victory ball, which he said was outstanding.

He stressed the interest in child welfare projects handled by Meyer Kaplan and the Christmas party for children directed by William McNamee.

During the year 18 firing squads were furnished, Commander Weber said, and listed the six members of Kingston Post who died during his term: J. Wallace Codwise, Henry Goldsworthy, Charles DeWitt, Manuel Yallum, Raymond Conway and Daniel Secor.

Urges Cooperation

Weber urged that the post membership cooperate with the new commander, and announced the dates for one of his first projects the bazaar scheduled July 9-10-11 at the Legion home on West O'Reilly street under the direction of James Costello as chairman.

In taking office Commander Saccoman said, "Today, as in years gone by, the principles of Legionism are more important than ever, in view of the fact that we are not living in a world of peace, rather under a cloud of international hostility and enmity that require a constant and large standing military force. With this picture in mind, we become part of the millions of veterans who are constantly returning to civilian life; and as we all know, their problems become increasingly complicated and difficult.

"We must all push for a larger active membership to add to the strength of this organization in fighting for and deriving those benefits which rightly belong to men who have fought for their country."

Saccoman served in the field artillery and with the 1288 Combat Engineers in Germany during World War 2.

He entered the service in 1941, served in the European theatre and was discharged in 1945. He was born in East Kingston, attended the local high school, Manhattan College and received his LLD from St. John's Law School in New York. Saccoman served his law clerkship in the office of Cashin and Ewig. In 1948 he was appointed assistant attorney general in the New York State Department of Law. In January of 1951, he resigned to enter the private practice of law at 621 Broadway, Kingston.

On Zoning Board

He was admitted to practice before the Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D. C., Nov. 16, 1951, and in January of 1952, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk appointed Saccoman to serve on the zoning board of the City of Kingston.

At the present time Saccoman is a special attorney in the New York State Department of Law for the prosecution of actions and proceedings for violation of the Agriculture and Markets Law.

Mr. and Mrs. Saccoman and their child, Frank, reside at 75 O'Neil street.

Sawkill Fire Meeting

There will be a joint meeting Monday at 8 p. m. of the Sawkill Fire Company and the Auxiliary of the company at the firehouse. All members of both organizations are requested to be present as plans for the Fourth of July Celebration will be completed at this meeting.

Saccoman Urges Strong Membership To Gain Benefits

At the annual election and installation of officers, last night, Attorney Thomas Saccoman, 75 O'Neil street, became commander of Kingston Post, 150, American Legion, and in his speech of acceptance urged a strong membership "for greater strength in fighting for benefits which belong to veterans who have fought to make democracy the watchword throughout the world."

Saccoman, a World War 2 veteran with four years of service, takes over the post occupied by John A. Weber, a World War 1 man, whose report for the year reflected a successful term in office, and expressed appreciation to all of the committees and Legionnaires who cooperated with him.

The full slate of officers elected to serve with Commander Saccoman is made up of:

New Officers

Edward Snyder, Harry Kingsburg and Anthony Erena, vice commanders; Howard Stephens, Jr., treasurer; Andrew J. Murphy, Jr., adjutant; the Rev. Clarance E. Brown, chaplain; Harold Bunting, historian; Charles W. Shultis, welfare officer; Donald G. Moore, service officer; Thomas Maines, athletic officer; Robert B. Turner, sergeant-at-arms; Ervin DeWitt, Andrew J. Murphy 3rd, Morton Finch and Bernhardt S. Kramer, members of the executive committee; Paul Hyatt, trustees for three years.

Installing officer was Andrew J. Murphy 3rd, past commander of Kingston Post, who presented a past commander's pin with jewels to John A. Weber as retiring head of the local post.

Weber was high in his praise of Legionnaires who helped during his commandership, and paid special tribute to all who assisted in promoting the annual Victory ball, which he said was outstanding.

He stressed the interest in child welfare projects handled by Meyer Kaplan and the Christmas party for children directed by William McNamee.

During the year 18 firing squads were furnished, Commander Weber said, and listed the six members of Kingston Post who died during his term: J. Wallace Codwise, Henry Goldsworthy, Charles DeWitt, Manuel Yallum, Raymond Conway and Daniel Secor.

Urges Cooperation

Weber urged that the post membership cooperate with the new commander, and announced the dates for one of his first projects the bazaar scheduled July 9-10-11 at the Legion home on West O'Reilly street under the direction of James Costello as chairman.

In taking office Commander Saccoman said, "Today, as in years gone by, the principles of Legionism are more important than ever, in view of the fact that we are not living in a world of peace, rather under a cloud of international hostility and enmity that require a constant and large standing military force. With this picture in mind, we become part of the millions of veterans who are constantly returning to civilian life; and as we all know, their problems become increasingly complicated and difficult.

"We must all push for a larger active membership to add to the strength of this organization in fighting for and deriving those benefits which rightly belong to men who have fought for their country."

Saccoman served in the field artillery and with the 1288 Combat Engineers in Germany during World War 2.

He entered the service in 1941, served in the European theatre and was discharged in 1945. He was born in East Kingston, attended the local high school, Manhattan College and received his LLD from St. John's Law School in New York. Saccoman served his law clerkship in the office of Cashin and Ewig. In 1948 he was appointed assistant attorney general in the New York State Department of Law. In January of 1951, he resigned to enter the private practice of law at 621 Broadway, Kingston.

On Zoning Board

He was admitted to practice before the Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D. C., Nov. 16, 1951, and in January of 1952, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk appointed Saccoman to serve on the zoning board of the City of Kingston.

At the present time Saccoman is a special attorney in the New York State Department of Law for the prosecution of actions and proceedings for violation of the Agriculture and Markets Law.

Mr. and Mrs. Saccoman and their child, Frank, reside at 75 O'Neil street.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

New York (AP)—Father's Day is on the horizon, and already fathers are feeling sheepish about it.

They are not sure whether they like a day in their honor. Or at least they pretend to feel this way.

"It just means I will be sandbagged by all those odd presents I escaped last Christmas — the strange gifts women think men yearn for," said one father. "And, naturally, I'll then have to take the whole tribe out to dinner, pick up the check—and pay later the bills for the gimmicks mama and the kids gave me."

Father is not used to being a hero in this civilization, even for a day. It is a bit different with Mother's Day. Motherhood is a symbol of lonely heroism in any age, and a true symbol. But for some reason nobody, so far as I know, has ever built a statue to "the pioneer father."

Patient Old Bull

There should be such a statue. If I designed it, it would be a tired, patient old bull, the wrinkles of muscled duty showing in his flybitten shoulders, as he bent his horns down to protect his mate and brood against the wolves of life and time.

I have never been a father. But my old man was, and a good one, too. I appreciated him before his death, more than 15 years ago, but I never really told him so, although I think he knew. Men often feel a kinship between each other that neither puts into words. Men are shyer than women.

Even so, I have always regreted I didn't say more to my dad. It cannot hurt to tell your heart. And I write this only for sons whose fathers are still alive, to whom they can still say "thank you"—along with sending them that necktie.

Was Miner's Son

My dad was a coal miner's son and came up rough and strong. He married young, sired four sons quickly, and—a later sweet surprise—a daughter, my sister, Dolores.

She was the blessing of his later days, and he wore his heart to silence by hard work at 48. Boys are a lot of trouble to a father. But a daughter is a comfort. A boy begins to be a man at 5, and to pull within himself and be stubborn, and make his father feel his years. But a daughter restores her dad forever, protecting with her love the yearning for youth he needs.

All his sons gave dad more than his share of woes, although none of us ever robbed a bank or went to reform school. And he was always a strong wall of understanding. He was one of the parents who knew how hard it is for a human being to grow up. His sympaythy was a bright shield when we really needed it, although he coddled none of us.

He was a tall tower in the desperate hour, the hour that a boy growing up feels to him, at least, is desperate.

Sister Made Him Happy

My sister made him happy, his four boys gave him problems. In my case he couldn't understand why I insisted on going to college instead of staying in his grocery store and learning business. But as mother backed me, he backed us both. I earned most of my way, but there were a couple of years when dad didn't get a new suit.

There are so many things a man can remember when he recalls a dead dad. About the time I got in a car wreck, and he came and drove me back to college, feeling out of place in a fraternity house in his rough suit, and made no complaint at all. As I hadn't been at the wheel, he thought my broken jaw and dislocated hip would give me enough to think about. They did—for the rest of my life.

Jests Continue

When I was a child he would give me a dime and say, "Now don't spend all that on one girl, son." I give my little goddaughters a quarter today and say, "Now don't spend all of it on one boy, girls." And they laugh at the idea that any girl would ever spend a whole quarter on a boy. So family jests go down through generations.

There must be millions of Americans who on this Father's Day will recall warmly the dad that isn't there to praise. This is the flower of remembrance I would plant upon my own one's grave:

"Life may not have given you what you wanted. But you are not forgotten, after these years, by those you created—and stood by. If I were a dad I could only ask I might be as fine a one as you were. One of your sons, speaking for all of your children."

Planning Board, State to Conduct New Traffic Count

The Kingston Planning Board, in cooperating with state engineers in obtaining traffic counts, will take a second count at nine arterial stations to determine the volume of directional travel here it was announced today.

The counters were taken last week from the nine arterial stations and placed along Broadway in the city. They are to continue at the arterial stations this time for a counting concentrated on direction of travel.

State men were in the city last Thursday from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m., to make a separate count, and at that time three men also made a manual count.

The planning board, which held its regular monthly meeting yesterday, is cooperating with the state in obtaining counts to determine, among other things, if the Washington avenue viaduct is to be considered part of an arterial route. If it is, the state may act to eliminate the structure or take some other remedial action.

Refuses Comment

Godfrey's Surgeon Dies

Boston, June 17 (AP)—Dr. Marius N. Smith-Petersen, 66 widely-known orthopedic surgeon who operated on radio-TV star Arthur Godfrey last month, died yesterday in Massachusetts General Hospital. The hospital said the cause of his death was "coronary occlusion." (A circulatory ailment). Dr. Smith-Petersen was admitted to the hospital as a patient on May 22, just seven days after he operated on Godfrey there to repair a hip shattered in a 1931 automobile accident.

Planning Board, State to Conduct New Traffic Count

The Kingston Planning Board, in cooperating with state engineers in obtaining traffic counts, will take a second count at nine arterial stations to determine the volume of directional travel here it was announced today.

The counters were taken last week from the nine arterial stations and placed along Broadway in the city. They are to continue at the arterial stations this time for a counting concentrated on direction of travel.

State men were in the city last Thursday from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m., to make a separate count, and at that time three men also made a manual count.

The planning board, which held its regular monthly meeting yesterday, is cooperating with the state in obtaining counts to determine, among other things, if the Washington avenue viaduct is to be considered part of an arterial route. If it is, the state may act to eliminate the structure or take some other remedial action.

County Retreatants Hold Schedule at Glenmount Retreat

A total of 49 area men, including 13 from Kingston and Ulster county, made their annual weekend retreat at the Jesuit Retreat House in Glenmount, Albany county, June 12 through 14.

The retreat movement, which is attracting more and more interest each year, gives those who participate an opportunity to spend a peaceful, thoughtful and interesting weekend and to consider the basic facts of life, put peace and order into their lives and to make correct decisions in accordance to fool-proof principles.

This retreat was conducted entirely by the retreatants, who followed out the schedule laid out by the retreat master, the Rev. Edward J. Dunne, SJ, chairman of the department of history at St. Peter's College, Jersey City.

Silence Is Rule

Silence is the rule and the only time talking is permitted is immediately after supper at the recreation period. Arriving at 6 p. m. Friday, the group registered, had supper at 7 p. m., and at 8:30 o'clock observed points of meditation, benediction, night prayers and confessions. Lights out was at 10:80 p. m.

The Saturday and Sunday schedule included morning prayers and Mass, breakfast with reading at the table, points and meditation, free time and reading, Rosary and Litany of the Blessed Virgin, and points and meditation in the morning; dinner and reading at table, visit to Blessed Sacrament, free time, round table conference on Sunday, Way of the Cross, points and meditation, supper with reading at table, recreation.

Jesuit Professor Commends

Father Dunne, a talented Jesuit professor, congratulated the retreatants on their attendance and remarked, "In this day and age, it would be almost impossible to make the general public believe that 49 men would cut themselves off from the world for a whole week-end in order to conduct a self-examination of their lives, their relationship to their fellow men, and to seek out God's way of doing the right thing for the future."

On the lighter side, the designated bell ringer, also a retreatant, took a quick glance at his watch on Sunday morning, thought he was late for his appointed task, ran down and pealed out the summons to arise. After the assembled guests had dressed and appeared downstairs, they discovered that the faithful toller of the chimes had done his work not only too well, but also an hour too early.

The retreat closed Sunday evening at 8 o'clock after the Holy Hour, renewal of baptismal vows and the granting of the Apostolic Blessing by the Spiritual Director. Retreatants agreed attendance was worth much more than the time invested, and are making plans to be present next year.

Miller Is Named

Miller received his BS degree from Tufts College, Boston, in 1932 and in the fall of 1933 began teaching in Kingston High School in general science and civics. He later taught English on the ninth and tenth grade levels. He also coached baseball during the years 1938-42.

Naval Ship Will

in the Hudson river somewhere off Kingston Point, Johnson said.

It will be impossible for the public to go aboard the vessel and there will be no liberty party, Johnson said.

To Leave Early Friday

Johnson said the vessel was on an urgent training cruise from Norfolk to Albany and that the plan to berth at the foot of Hasbrouck avenue in Rondout creek had perhaps been changed due to the lateness of the vessel's arrival off Kingston and the earliness of its departure Friday morning for Albany. The ship is scheduled to drop anchor about 4 p. m. today and to make its departure at 7 a. m. Friday.

The ship was originally scheduled to berth at Miron's dock and to be open for public inspection.

Johnson said he would make an effort to bring another vessel to Kingston for a weekend in the near future. He is writing to the commandant of the Third Naval District, New York, requesting that a ship be assigned to Kingsston for a weekend stop, perhaps Friday through Sunday, with liberty party and visiting privileges.

Mountain Resorts Adopt Program to Promote Business

A new three-fold program was voted at a special meeting in Fleischmanns, Tuesday, to promote an 11-community area for increased resort business, with emphasis on summer attraction.

More than 150 resort operators and business men attended the session in Firemen's Hall, sponsored by the Central Catskills Association, whose members pressed for the development of Belleayre ski slope.

According to Herman T. Lukow, public relations representative for the association, the meeting adopted a resolution to:

1. Continue resurfacing Highway 28 from Boiceville to Margaretville.
2. Provide a new state park in the Catskills, preferably on the Belleayre site.
3. Publish an Ulster-Delaware travel guide for summer and winter, to be distributed by all travel agencies in the country.

Good Roads Essential

Lukow said the resolution will be submitted to the Conservation Department, and to other state officials, including Senator Arthur H. Wicks, who will become lieutenant governor in September.

It was the consensus that 10,000 motorists traverse the area from Boiceville to Margaretville and the roadway they seek is of prime importance. "Good roads are essential, if we want to attract tourist trade," Lukow said.

Relative to the proposed state park, the resolution calls for a public swimming pool, golf course, an outdoor theatre, baseball field and other facilities to be established preferably at Belleayre.

Morton D. Bertram, chairman of the committee for the publicity brochure, said it is an important item in public relations to boom the area.

When the resolution of the development project is sent to the Conservation Department, there will go with it an oil painting of the Belleayre site, emphasing its natural attractions, Lukow told the press.

The painting was done by Arthur Dalton, Sr., of Pine Hill, Lukow said, and pointed out that the mountain amateur artist pictured the full grandeur of Belleayre.

He said the painting may be used on the literature exploting the Catskills as ideal for vacationists.

The original in oils is three feet by six feet, and plans are underway to present it to the Conservation Department.

11 Communites Represented

Representatives at the meeting, Lukow said, came from the 11 communities along the route that takes in Mt. Tremper, Phoenicia, Big Indian, Oliverea, Pine Hill, Highmount, Fleischmanns, Halcot Center, Arkville and Margaretville.

Importance was noted on the necessity for the good road in connection with the new state tarnway by officials of the organization.

Cashin Benefit Revue Attracts Large Crowds

Saugerties, June 18—The Saugerties Talent Revue presented at the municipal auditorium last week was without a doubt one of the best performances of its type to be seen here in a long time. There was a very good attendance on both nights.

The revue was presented by students of the Cashin School of Dancing, Kingston, and was under the direction of Dorothy Otto McVey, musical accompanist. The studio pianist was Phyllis Roosa.

Many local youngsters donned their dancing shoes and gave a variety of numbers that combined talent, humor and beauty.

Proceeds of the performances were given to the Cancer Fund. At the conclusion of the revue, Hugo Knauert, chairman of the local cancer drive, expressed his appreciation to the youngsters and served ice cream and soda.

Mountain Resorts Adopt Program to Promote Business

A new three-fold program was voted at a special meeting in Fleischmanns, Tuesday, to promote an 11-community area for increased resort business, with emphasis on summer attraction.

More than 150 resort operators and business men attended the session in Firemen's Hall, sponsored by the Central Catskills Association, whose members pressed for the development of Belleayre ski slope.

According to Herman T. Lukow, public relations representative for the association, the meeting adopted a resolution to:

1. Continue resurfacing Highway 28 from Boiceville to Margaretville.
2. Provide a new state park in the Catskills, preferably on the Belleayre site.
3. Publish an Ulster-Delaware travel guide for summer and winter, to be distributed by all travel agencies in the country.

Good Roads Essential

Lukow said the resolution will be submitted to the Conservation Department, and to other state officials, including Senator Arthur H. Wicks, who will become lieutenant governor in September.

It was the consensus that 10,000 motorists traverse the area from Boiceville to Margaretville and the roadway they seek is of prime importance. "Good roads are essential, if we want to attract tourist trade," Lukow said.

Relative to the proposed state park, the resolution calls for a public swimming pool, golf course, an outdoor theatre, baseball field and other facilities to be established preferably at Belleayre.

Morton D. Bertram, chairman of the committee for the publicity brochure, said it is an important item in public relations to boom the area.

When the resolution of the development project is sent to the Conservation Department, there will go with it an oil painting of the Belleayre site, emphasing its natural attractions, Lukow told the press.

The painting was done by Arthur Dalton, Sr., of Pine Hill, Lukow said, and pointed out that the mountain amateur artist pictured the full grandeur of Belleayre.

He said the painting may be used on the literature exploting the Catskills as ideal for vacationists.

The original in oils is three feet by six feet, and plans are underway to present it to the Conservation Department.

11 Communites Represented

Representatives at the meeting, Lukow said, came from the 11 communities along the route that takes in Mt. Tremper, Phoenicia, Big Indian, Oliverea, Pine Hill, Highmount, Fleischmanns, Halcot Center, Arkville and Margaretville.

Importance was noted on the necessity for the good road in connection with the new state turuway by officials of the organization.

Cashin Benefit Revue Attracts Large Crowds

Saugerties, June 18—The Saugerties Talent Revue presented at the municipal auditorium last week was without a doubt one of the best performances of its type to be seen here in a long time. There was a very good attendance on both nights.

The revue was presented by students of the Cashin School of Dancing, Kingston, and was under the direction of Dorothy Otto McVey, musical accompanist. The studio pianist was Phyllis Roosa.

Many local youngsters donned their dancing shoes and gave a variety of numbers that combined talent, humor and beauty.

Proceeds of the performances were given to the Cancer Fund. At the conclusion of the revue, Hugo Knauert, chairman of the local cancer drive, expressed his appreciation to the youngsters and served ice cream and soda.

Journalist Recounts Thrills at Coach House Players Event

The third annual banquet of the Coach House Players was held Tuesday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel, with 50 members in attendance. Edmund Gilligan, playwright, author and journalist, was the guest speaker.

Mr. Gilligan's works have appeared in Fortune and the Saturday Evening Post. He is also featured as a sports columnist in the Herald Tribune, and is known as a playwright and novelist. He entertained the players with vivid accounts of his experiences in writing plays and in the theatre.

A review of the organization's accomplishments since its beginning in October, '50, was given by William Hawk. He described the "hardships and struggles" of the charter members, as well as the "fun and excitement," which all enjoy in their little theatre activities. Mr. Hawks also remarked "that the success of the Coach House was due in many respects to the staunch support of such men as Hugo Wessler," who was a guest at the banquet.

Miss Eugenia Cooney delighted the Players with her performance of The Ballet, and Jealousy. Mrs. Raymond R. Gross conducted a play-quiz with 10 members participating. Miss Maureen Rice was given an award for earrings symbolizing the theatre.

W. Irving Rose who served as emcee, was commended for his leadership as president for three years.

The director of Coach House productions, Houston Richards expressed his pleasure in guiding the members in their plays, and asked that more members try out for future plays.

Another House in Line of Thruway

John E. Robinson, of Lucas avenue extension, this week protested against thruway construction workers moving in too hastily on private property. His house, above, is along Lucas avenue extension near the proposed site of the grade separation bridge, not far from the Four Corners. The state contends that filing of maps serves as sufficient notice that it will enter a property. (Freeman photo)

Rosenbergs' Case

A 24-hour police guard was thrown around the New York apartment building where Judge Kaufman lives because, police said, a second threat had been received that the place would be bombed. The judge and his family, however, were reported not to be at home.

Still a factor was the petition urging President Eisenhower to commute the death sentence to life imprisonment. The President turned down a similar plea in February, and a delegation of clergymen who called on him Tuesday to ask him to change his mind reported they got no encouragement.

The Rosenbergs have become the center of worldwide controversy since their conviction and sentencing two years ago. They have steadfastly maintained they are innocent. Rosenberg is 35, his wife two years older. They have two young sons.

Communist groups throughout the world have taken up the Rosenberg cause, and there have also been many appeals on their behalf from church groups and individuals never accused of Red leanings.

Four times the Supreme Court refused to review their case, most recently on Monday by a 5-4 vote, with Douglas and Justices Black, Frankfurther and Jackson in the minority. In advance of today's session, it was not certain whether Frankfurter and Justice Burton, who had voted with the majority, would be on hand.

Douglas' stay of execution was granted in response to the pleadings of two attorneys not formally connected with the Rosenberg defense staff and denounced by Judge Kaufman earlier in the week as "intruders and interlopers."

In essence, Attorneys Fyke Farmer of Nashville, Tenn., and Daniel G. Marshall of Los Angeles, argued the trial judge had no authority to impose the death sentence.

The Rosenbergs were tried under a 1917 epsionage law, which permits the death penalty in such cases. Farmer and Marshall contended this act had been superseded by the Atomic Energy Act of 1946, which authorizes the death penalty only upon recommendation by the jury and for crimes committed with intent to injure the U. S.

The Rosenberg jury made no such recommendation, and the indictment did not allege that they intended to injure this country.

"It is important that the country be protected against the nefarious plans of spies who would destroy us," Douglas said in his 3,000-word opinion.

"It is also important that before we allow human lives to be snuffed out we be sure—emphatically sure—that we act within the law."

Douglas acted under a 1925 law which allows any Supreme Court justice to stay an execution. The authority has been employed on numerous occasions, although perhaps not in identical circumstances and not in any case of such prominence.

Douglas' return, there were at least seven of the nine justices in Washington or close enough to return in time for the unusual session which Vinson called for 11 a. m. (EST).

Six constitutes a quorum entitled to conduct business.

Douglas' grant of a stay of execution touched off a rapid sequence of events yesterday.

The Justice Department moved for a reversal, "as expeditiously as possible" but without "unseemly haste," of what Atty. Gen. Brownell termed an "unprecedented" action by the justice.

Vinson, within six hours after Douglas' decision was announced, called the justices back from the recess they had started Monday. He said atorneys for the government and the Rosenbergs could argue the case in open court.

Rep. Wheeler (D.-Ga.) moved in the House to have Douglas impeached for "high crimes and misdemeanors" which he did not specify. His announcement that he would do so drew applause in the House.

In New York, the "Committee to Secure Justice in the Rosenberg Case" announced it would send two trainloads of people to the capital today to protest Wheeler's move and to uphold Douglas.

The unofficial legal consensus was that if the justices who assembled today should overturn Douglas' decision, the effect would be as if nothing had happened since Monday when the court refused for a fourth time to review the case.

It was thought possible that, if that was the court's decision, the execution might go on tonight as scheduled.

In any event, U. S. District Judge Irving R. Kaufman of New York had fixed the execution for the current week, and his mandate could be carried out by officials of the prison at Ossining, N. Y., any time before midnight Saturday.

Should no decision be forthcoming this week, and if the eventual decision should go against the Rosenbergs, a new date would have to be set by Judge Kaufman.

Playhouse Director Talks at Rotary Club

Philip Robinson, director of the Woodstock Playhouse, gave an interesting talk on the administration of a summer theatre at the Rotary Club luncheon-meeting Wednesday.

The director, who has been connected with the theatre for 25 years, discussed the budget, selection of plays and the securing of casts for the productions. The choosing of plays diversified enough to meet the approval of patrons and the interviewing of actors for the productions was a strenuous task, he explained.

The opening play on June 30 will be The Moon Is Blue.

Charter Night for the Phoenicia Rotary Club will be observed tonight at Williams Lake.

Central District 1 To Vote July 2 On Buying Buses

A special meeting of qualified voters in Central School District No. 1 will be held July 2 at 8:30 p. m., Daylight Saving Time, in the Onteora Central School, Boiceville, to vote on whether the education board should purchase 11 school buses.

The district is comprised of all or part of the towns of Shandaken, Olive, Woodstock, Marbletown and Hurley in Ulster county, and the town of Lexington in Greene county.

The question to be voted on is "Shall the district authorize the Board of Education to spend for 11 school buses a sum not to exceed $10,000 each and to issue therefore obligations of the district pursuant to provisions of the Education Law, and the local finance law, and to levy a tax to be collected in installments for the payment of the principal of and interest on such obligations.

The notice was signed by Justus North, clerk, and Lester M. Shutis, president of the Board of Education of the district.

Reds Grab U. S. Soldier

Berlin, June 18 (AP)—An American soldier who apparently blundered over the Soviet zonal frontier from the U. S. sector of Berlin was seized by Russian troops today and marched off at gunpoint. Germans who saw the incident reported it to army headquarters. The soldier was not identified immediately.

Thrown From Car, Continues on Way

Edward J. Kovacs, 45, of 120 Cannon street, Poughkeepsie, was thrown from his automobile in a collision near Ellenville early today, but was able to continue on his way without treatment for injuries, according to a state police report.

Kovacs' vehicle was in collision with an automobile driven by James Jacobs, 40, of Wurtsboro, as Jacobs was entering Route 209 from a diner parking lot a half-mile north of Ellenville, state police reported. Kovacs was traveling north on the highway at the time.

Troopers said Kovacs complained of injuries, but declined immediate medical attention, saying he would see his own physician. The accident was reported at 12:30 a. m. today.

Kelly Condition Critical

The condition of Coroner Ernest A. Kelly of 111 West Chester street, who was admitted to Kingston Hospital earlier this week for treatment of a heart condition, was reported as critical today.

Immanuel Lutheran School Graduation Slated for June 19

The annual school closing and graduation program of Immanuel Lutheran Christian Day School will be held in the church hall at 22 Livingston street on Friday, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

The first part of the program will consist of two short presentations. Grades 1 to 4 will present Good News To White Man, an original play written by members of the class. Grades 5 to 8 will present a sketch on the Augsburg Confession, the confession on which Immanuel Church is founded.

The second half of the program will be the annual graduation exercises. Edwin Jiede, principal of Nassau Christian Day School, Mineola, L. I., will be the guest speaker. John Peters, valedictorian; Robert Pratt, salutatorian; and Ronald Sahloff will receive diplomas, which will be presented by the pastor of the congregation, the Rev. E. L. Witte, who will also present awards from the school Mothers' Club and the Immanuel Men's Club.

The public is cordially invited to attend. A free will offering will be taken. Refreshments will be served following the program.

Rosenbergs' Case

A 24-hour police guard was thrown around the New York apartment building where Judge Kaufman lives because, police said, a second threat had been received that the place would be bombed. The judge and his family, however, were reported not to be at home.

Still a factor was the petition urging President Eisenhower to commute the death sentence to life imprisonment. The President turned down a similar plea in February, and a delegation of clergymen who called on him Tuesday to ask him to change his mind reported they got no encouragement.

The Rosenbergs have become the center of worldwide controversy since their conviction and sentencing two years ago. They have steadfastly maintained they are innocent. Rosenberg is 35, his wife two years older. They have two young sons.

Communist groups throughout the world have taken up the Rosenberg cause, and there have also been many appeals on their behalf from church groups and individuals never accused of Red leanings.

Four times the Supreme Court refused to review their case, most recently on Monday by a 5-4 vote, with Douglas and Justices Black, Frankfurther and Jackson in the minority. In advance of today's session, it was not certain whether Frankfurter and Justice Burton, who had voted with the majority, would be on hand.

Douglas' stay of execution was granted in response to the pleadings of two attorneys not formally connected with the Rosenberg defense staff and denounced by Judge Kaufman earlier in the week as "intruders and interlopers."

In essence, Attorneys Fyke Farmer of Nashville, Tenn., and Daniel G. Marshall of Los Angeles, argued the trial judge had no authority to impose the death sentence.

The Rosenbergs were tried under a 1917 epsionage law, which permits the death penalty in such cases. Farmer and Marshall contended this act had been superseded by the Atomic Energy Act of 1946, which authorizes the death penalty only upon recommendation by the jury and for crimes committed with intent to injure the U. S.

The Rosenberg jury made no such recommendation, and the indictment did not allege that they intended to injure this country.

"It is important that the country be protected against the nefarious plans of spies who would destroy us," Douglas said in his 3,000-word opinion.

"It is also important that before we allow human lives to be snuffed out we be sure—emphatically sure—that we act within the law."

Douglas acted under a 1925 law which allows any Supreme Court justice to stay an execution. The authority has been employed on numerous occasions, although perhaps not in identical circumstances and not in any case of such prominence.

Rep. Wheeler (D.-Ga.) moved in the House to have Douglas impeached for "high crimes and misdemeanors" which he did not specify. His announcement that he would do so drew applause in the House.

In New York, the "Committee to Secure Justice in the Rosenberg Case" announced it would send two trainloads of people to the capital today to protest Wheeler's move and to uphold Douglas.

The unofficial legal consensus was that if the justices who assembled today should overturn Douglas' decision, the effect would be as if nothing had happened since Monday when the court refused for a fourth time to review the case.

It was thought possible that, if that was the court's decision, the execution might go on tonight as scheduled.

In any event, U. S. District Judge Irving R. Kaufman of New York had fixed the execution for the current week, and his mandate could be carried out by officials of the prison at Ossining, N. Y., any time before midnight Saturday.

Should no decision be forthcoming this week, and if the eventual decision should go against the Rosenbergs, a new date would have to be set by Judge Kaufman.

Dick Howard Rolls 258-706; Rose Schatzel 646 in Ferraro Summer

Six Records Fall In Heavy Session Wednesday Night

A couple of tried and proven veterans of the top echelon of Kingston's bowling ranks—Dick Howard and Rose Schatzel—gave off with mid-season performances Wednesday night during the Ferraro Summer Mixed League wheel.

All in all, the two veteran pinbusters were credited with establishing four new individual records with their sensational firing.

Howard unloaded the hat trick effort with a hefty string of 209-258-239 for a gaudy 706 mark.

Mrs. Schatzel, after opening with 194, came back strong with solid counts of 216 and 236 for a 646 blast.

In the team events, two other records fell by the wayside. Ten Grand Tavern shot a 2613 triple on scores of 880-856-877 while Capital Cleaners posted a 907 new high game.

Howard's solo of 258 wrote the new men's single into the record books as well as his hefty 706 three-timer. Mrs. Schatzel's third game single of 236 topped the season's output for the distaff members of the league as did her nifty 646 series.

Halbert Rolls 629

Also of note were Vern Van Deusen with 200-566; Fred Martino 204-542; John Bechtold 226-536; Dick Waltman 530 and Bill Stenson 236-526.

Runnerup in the women's bracket was Tess Moss who fired 533. Helen Murphy posted 526; Eleanor Dumenigo 491; Phyl Roosa 473; Mary Wyant 458; Flo Beichert 457; Ada Markle 450; Shirley Buckman 448 and Helen Broskie 447.

Team results:

Middlecoff Favorite

Toledo, O., June 18 (AP)—Dr. Cary Middlecoff, the golfing dentist from Memphis, moved into the favorite role in the 16th Inverness Invitational matches after firing a four-under-par 67 in a practice round yesterday. Thirty of the nation's top professionals picked from the Ryder Cup, money won and ex-champion lists were to tee off today in the 72-hole quest for the $3,400 top prize of the $18,000 awards. For the first time since its inauguration in the mid-30s, the contest will be run off as a regulation 72-hole four-day medal play test.

Berra Trapped Off Third

Yogi Berra (8), New York Yankee catcher, is trapped off third base in seventh inning of game against St. Louis Browns at Yankee Stadium, N. Y. Browns retired two base runners on play which started when Gil McDougald grounded to pitcher Max Lanier (17). Berra was out Lanier to catcher Clint Courtney (5) to third baseman Jim Dyck (catching ball). Dyck threw to second baseman Bob Young who caught Gene Woodling between second and third. Umpire is Art Passarella. Yanks beat the Browns 5-3.

Milwaukee's 2½-Game Lead Biggest Since April 27

Cards Thump Brooks Again by 9 to 3

(By The Associated Press)

Somewhere along the line they certainly stole a copy of the New Yorkers' private book on how to win pennants.

Applying the techniques described in the chapter "club 'em to death," the Braves mopped up their new stadium with the Philadelphia Phillies, 9-6, last night, and pulled a fat 2½ games out in front of the rest of the National League.

Two and a half games doesn't sound like much when compared with the Yankees' tremendous 10½ length advantage over Cleveland in the American League. But it has to qualify as a big lead in the senior circuit where only one other time this season has the first place team been that far ahead. That was back on April 27 when the Phillies led the Chicago Cubs—yes, the same Cubs now occupying the cellar—by 2½ games.

Last night's victory came as the Cards again obliged by thumping Brooklyn, 9-3.

Chicago defeated Pittsburgh, 5-4, in 16 innings—longest game of the season in either league—and the New York Giants beat Cincinnati, 4-1.

Tribe Halts Athletics

The New York Yankees hit the winning trail again at the expense of the St. Louis Browns, who broke the New Yorkers' 18-game victory streak Tuesday night. Yesterday the Yankees won, 5-3, with Allie Reynolds back on the starting line after a siege of bullpen duty.

The Cleveland Indians outlasted the Philadelphia Athletics, 9-6, to end a six-game losing run. The A's had won seven straight.

Boston smothered the Detroit Tigers, 17-1, and Walt Masterson threw a sparkling two-hitter at the Chicago White Sox to give Washington a 1-0 decision.

The Braves jumped away to a 7-0 lead over the Phils in the first three innings with an attack which included home runs by Joe Adcock and Del Crandall in the third, let the Phils get within striking distance at 7-6, then pulled it out with a final two runs in the eighth.

The marathon at Chicago ended when Randy Jackson singled with the bases loaded in the 16th off Johnny Hetki who had held the Cubs scoreless since coming on in the ninth. The victory went to Turk Lown who took over in the ninth when the Pirates tied the score with three runs.

Martin Sparks Yanks

Billy Martin sparked the Yankees' return to form against the Browns with a perfect day at bat—three singles in three times up, driving in a pair of runs. Bobo Holloman failed to last for the Browns and Reynolds was knocked out, too.

The closest contest was at Washington where Masterson and Saul Rogovin of the White Sox both had one-hitters through seven innings. Chico Carrasquel opened the Chicago sixth with a single and Jim Rivera got the only other White Sox hit, a double to start the eighth. The Washington tally came in the ninth on a single by Mickey Vernon that scored Ed FitzGerald from third.

Bill Wight and Art Houtteman, two newcomers from Detroit, came to the aid of Bobby Feller as Cleveland beat the Athletics. Feller couldn't hold a 6-2 lead and Wight took over in the fourth. Houtteman followed in the seventh with Wight getting the triumph.

Racing

New York—Marta ($12.50) won the $31,450 Top Flight Handicap at Belmont Park.

Navy's defending champions, and Princeton, Washington, Stanford, California, Columbia, Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Syracuse were forced to hold their workouts on the Seneca river yesterday. Onondaga Lake was too choppy.

Pecora's Wildness Costly in Fourth

One bad inning of wildness cost Joe Pecora the chance of coming up with a City League victory Wednesday night.

As it turned out, however, Pecora and Jones Dairy had to settle for a 3-3 eight inning tie with the Kingston Indians.

After breezing through the first three innings in fancy style, Pecora became a cropper at the expense of wildness and issued four walks to help the Indians to three runs and the tie game.

The Dairymen gave Pecora a 3-0 lead with a pair of runs in the first and another in the third.

Pecora was lifted after the fifth inning and Bruce Bechtold came on to continue hurling shutout ball through the eighth when darkness forced the game to end.

Ferraro Fans 10

Meanwhile, Chink Ferraro, the Indians' hurler, also came through with a creditable mound job as he went the route.

Ferraro rolled up 10 strikeouts and limited the Dairymen to eight blows in the eight-inning fray.

The Indians were held to a total of two bingles, two off the offerings of Pecora. Bechtold pitched hitless ball in his three-inning tenure.

Pecora's troubles started in the fourth when he walked Fred Orr and Emerson after striking out Gordon. Havlin grounded to Schatzel who made the unassisted putout as both runners advanced. Diamond rifled a single to center scoring both Orr and Emerson and making it a 3-2 affair.

Albright continued the rally when he reached first on Schatzel's fielding error of Jones' throw. Diamond went to third on the miscue. Pecora's wildness returned to haunt him as he issued free tickets to Ferraro and Smith to force in Diamond with the tying run. Pecora finally saw daylight as he enticed Jankowski to ground out to Schatzel to end the uprising.

Jones Raps Triple

Singles by Bob Graves and Misasi, an error and a walk gave the Dairymen their two runs in the first. In the third, after Carlino and Maines had whiffed, Jones tripled to right center and scored on Misasi's hit through short.

After the Indian uprising in the fourth both Pecora and Bechtold checked them without a single.

The Dairymen had several big opportunities to unlock the tie but Ferraro arose to the occasion and kept them in check.

Yanks Play Sox In Tonight's Game

Just to prove that the league-leading Red Sox are not invincible, the Dodgers scored 11 runs in the first inning and went on to hammer out a 16 to 3 victory over the Sox in the Little League's American Division Wednesday night at the 156th FA Field.

A victory over the Yankees tonight could send the first half standings into a merry fight for top honors.

The Red Sox currently lead the standings with a 6-2 record while the Yanks and Dodgers are tied for second with 4-3 marks.

The Dodgers, after their opening frame attack netting 11 runs, left little doubt in the minds of last night's spectators as to the outcome of the ball game.

But just to make sure, the Dodgers came back with a single tally in the fourth and added four more in the fifth to complete the rout. The Red Sox scored all their three runs in the second inning.

Williams Gets Three

Charlie Williams, shortstop for the Dodgers, paced his club at the plate with three hits in five trips, including a double. The only other extra-base clout was George Uhl's two-ply hoist for the Dodgers.

Tom Ashdown, who did the pitching for the winners, picked up a couple of hits while Uhl also collected a brace of safeties. Frank Sammons had two of the Red Sox hits off Ashdown.

Dick Howard Rolls 258-706; Rose Schatzel 646 in Ferraro Summer

Six Records Fall In Heavy Session Wednesday Night

A couple of tried and proven veterans of the top echelon of Kingston's bowling ranks—Dick Howard and Rose Schatzel—gave off with mid-season performances Wednesday night during the Ferraro Summer Mixed League wheel.

All in all, the two veteran pinbusters were credited with establishing four new individual records with their sensational firing.

Howard unloaded the hat trick effort with a hefty string of 209-258-239 for a gaudy 706 mark.

Mrs. Schatzel, after opening with 194, came back strong with solid counts of 216 and 236 for a 646 blast.

In the team events, two other records fell by the wayside. Ten Grand Tavern shot a 2613 triple on scores of 880-856-877 while Capital Cleaners posted a 907 new high game.

Howard's solo of 258 wrote the new men's single into the record books as well as his hefty 706 three-timer. Mrs. Schatzel's third game single of 236 topped the season's output for the distaff members of the league as did her nifty 646 series.

Halbert Rolls 629

Another tenpin veteran, Ralph Halbert, took over runnerup honors in the men's division last night with 221-208-200 for 629 while Larry Weishaupt followed closely with 200-212-205 for 617. Jack Ferraro closed out the 600 membership with 218-603.

Also of note were Vern Van Deusen with 200-566; Fred Martino 204-542; John Bechtold 226-536; Dick Waltman 530 and Bill Stenson 236-526.

Runnerup in the women's bracket was Tess Moss who fired 533. Helen Murphy posted 526; Eleanor Dumenigo 491; Phyl Roosa 473; Mary Wyant 458; Flo Beichert 457; Ada Markle 450; Shirley Buckman 448 and Helen Broskie 447.

Team results:

Middlecoff Favorite

Toledo, O., June 18 (AP)—Dr. Cary Middlecoff, the golfing dentist from Memphis, moved into the favorite role in the 16th Inverness Invitational matches after firing a four-under-par 67 in a practice round yesterday. Thirty of the nation's top professionals picked from the Ryder Cup, money won and ex-champion lists were to tee off today in the 72-hole quest for the $3,400 top prize of the $18,000 awards. For the first time since its inauguration in the mid-30s, the contest will be run off as a regulation 72-hole four-day medal play test.

Berra Trapped Off Third

Yogi Berra (8), New York Yankee catcher, is trapped off third base in seventh inning of game against St. Louis Browns at Yankee Stadium, N. Y. Browns retired two base runners on play which started when Gil McDougald grounded to pitcher Max Lanier (17). Berra was out Lanier to catcher Clint Courtney (5) to third baseman Jim Dyck (catching ball). Dyck threw to second baseman Bob Young who caught Gene Woodling between second and third. Umpire is Art Passarella. Yanks beat the Browns 5-3.

Milwaukee's 2½-Game Lead Biggest Since April 27

Cards Thump Brooks Again by 9 to 3

(By The Associated Press)

Maybe those hit happy Milwaukee Braves made a secret excursion to Yankee Stadium on their last trip east.

Somewhere along the line they certainly stole a copy of the New Yorkers' private book on how to win pennants.

Applying the techniques described in the chapter "club 'em to death," the Braves mopped up their new stadium with the Philadelphia Phillies, 9-6, last night, and pulled a fat 2½ games out in front of the rest of the National League.

Two and a half games doesn't sound like much when compared with the Yankees' tremendous 10½ length advantage over Cleveland in the American League. But it has to qualify as a big lead in the senior circuit where only one other time this season has the first place team been that far ahead. That was back on April 27 when the Phillies led the Chicago Cubs—yes, the same Cubs now occupying the cellar—by 2½ games.

The Braves came home Tuesday only six percentage points off Brooklyn's pace after a 22 game road trip. They remedied this immediately by winning two from the Phils Tuesday night while the Dodgers bowed to St. Louis.

Last night's victory came as the Cards again obliged by thumping Brooklyn, 9-3.

Chicago defeated Pittsburgh, 5-4, in 16 innings—longest game of the season in either league—and the New York Giants beat Cincinnati, 4-1.

Tribe Halts Athletics

The New York Yankees hit the winning trail again at the expense of the St. Louis Browns, who broke the New Yorkers' 18-game victory streak Tuesday night. Yesterday the Yankees won, 5-3, with Allie Reynolds back on the starting line after a siege of bullpen duty.

The Cleveland Indians outlasted the Philadelphia Athletics, 9-6, to end a six-game losing run. The A's had won seven straight.

Boston smothered the Detroit Tigers, 17-1, and Walt Masterson threw a sparkling two-hitter at the Chicago White Sox to give Washington a 1-0 decision.

The Braves jumped away to a 7-0 lead over the Phils in the first three innings with an attack which included home runs by Joe Adcock and Del Crandall in the third, let the Phils get within striking distance at 7-6, then pulled it out with a final two runs in the eighth.

The marathon at Chicago ended when Randy Jackson singled with the bases loaded in the 16th off Johnny Hetki who had held the Cubs scoreless since coming on in the ninth. The victory went to Turk Lown who took over in the ninth when the Pirates tied the score with three runs.

Martin Sparks Yanks

Billy Martin sparked the Yankees' return to form against the Browns with a perfect day at bat—three singles in three times up, driving in a pair of runs. Bobo Holloman failed to last for the Browns and Reynolds was knocked out, too.

The closest contest was at Washington where Masterson and Saul Rogovin of the White Sox both had one-hitters through seven innings. Chico Carrasquel opened the Chicago sixth with a single and Jim Rivera got the only other White Sox hit, a double to start the eighth. The Washington tally came in the ninth on a single by Mickey Vernon that scored Ed FitzGerald from third.

Bill Wight and Art Houtteman, two newcomers from Detroit, came to the aid of Bobby Feller as Cleveland beat the Athletics. Feller couldn't hold a 6-2 lead and Wight took over in the fourth. Houtteman followed in the seventh with Wight getting the triumph.

New York—Marta ($12.50) won the $31,450 Top Flight Handicap at Belmont Park.

Pecora's Wildness Costly in Fourth

One bad inning of wildness cost Joe Pecora the chance of coming up with a City League victory Wednesday night.

As it turned out, however, Pecora and Jones Dairy had to settle for a 3-3 eight inning tie with the Kingston Indians.

After breezing through the first three innings in fancy style, Pecora became a cropper at the expense of wildness and issued four walks to help the Indians to three runs and the tie game.

The Dairymen gave Pecora a 3-0 lead with a pair of runs in the first and another in the third.

Pecora was lifted after the fifth inning and Bruce Bechtold came on to continue hurling shutout ball through the eighth when darkness forced the game to end.

Ferraro Fans 10

Meanwhile, Chink Ferraro, the Indians' hurler, also came through with a creditable mound job as he went the route.

Ferraro rolled up 10 strikeouts and limited the Dairymen to eight blows in the eight-inning fray.

The Indians were held to a total of two bingles, two off the offerings of Pecora. Bechtold pitched hitless ball in his three-inning tenure.

Pecora's troubles started in the fourth when he walked Fred Orr and Emerson after striking out Gordon. Havlin grounded to Schatzel who made the unassisted putout as both runners advanced. Diamond rifled a single to center scoring both Orr and Emerson and making it a 3-2 affair.

Albright continued the rally when he reached first on Schatzel's fielding error of Jones' throw. Diamond went to third on the miscue. Pecora's wildness returned to haunt him as he issued free tickets to Ferraro and Smith to force in Diamond with the tying run. Pecora finally saw daylight as he enticed Jankowski to ground out to Schatzel to end the uprising.

Jones Raps Triple

Singles by Bob Graves and Misasi, an error and a walk gave the Dairymen their two runs in the first. In the third, after Carlino and Maines had whiffed, Jones tripled to right center and scored on Misasi's hit through short.

After the Indian uprising in the fourth both Pecora and Bechtold checked them without a single.

The Dairymen had several big opportunities to unlock the tie but Ferraro arose to the occasion and kept them in check.

Yanks Play Sox In Tonight's Game

Just to prove that the league-leading Red Sox are not invincible, the Dodgers scored 11 runs in the first inning and went on to hammer out a 16 to 3 victory over the Sox in the Little League's American Division Wednesday night at the 156th FA Field.

The Red Sox loss added a little more importance to tonight's big game featuring the Sox and the Yanks.

A victory over the Yankees tonight could send the first half standings into a merry fight for top honors.

The Red Sox currently lead the standings with a 6-2 record while the Yanks and Dodgers are tied for second with 4-3 marks.

The Dodgers, after their opening frame attack netting 11 runs, left little doubt in the minds of last night's spectators as to the outcome of the ball game.

But just to make sure, the Dodgers came back with a single tally in the fourth and added four more in the fifth to complete the rout. The Red Sox scored all their three runs in the second inning.

Williams Gets Three

Charlie Williams, shortstop for the Dodgers, paced his club at the plate with three hits in five trips, including a double. The only other extra-base clout was George Uhl's two-ply hoist for the Dodgers.

Tom Ashdown, who did the pitching for the winners, picked up a couple of hits while Uhl also collected a brace of safeties. Frank Sammons had two of the Red Sox hits off Ashdown.

Man-Made Minnesota Fish

We received an interesting letter from John Hanley of Sheboygan, Wis., the other day, in which he describes three "muskies" he caught in the Chippewa Flowage last fall. It seems the trio were bluish-silver in color, and as any amateur knows — muskies have distinctly dark bars or spots on their sides. These fish had none. No doubt Hanley hasn't heard about the silver pike, which these fish obviously were; in fact, a good many fresh water addicts don't know that such a fish exists.

It is difficult to say just when this mutant of the great northern pike first appeared in Wisconsin and Minnesota waters, but the silver pike is there and flourishing. These fish were taken in Lake Bell Tain of the Mantrap chain of lakes at Nevis, Minn., in 1930. Later they were caught in other lakes of the chain and in the immediate region. Since then silver pike have been taken in the Detroit lakes (Minnesota) region and as far north as Lake County, in the Superior National Forest.

It has been definitely proven that a cross between the great northern and the muskellunge is posible, but that the result of this cross will not reproduce. The hybrid, or cross, is mottled, but retains the pike form. The silver pike, however, is without any spots, bars, or blotches, the coloration being bluish-gray. Many specimens are irridescent and some are flecked with gold. Specimens of silver pike have been reared at the University of Minnesota up to the age of three years. Dr. Eddy has observed that apparently the variety breeds true, for all the offspring are like the parents. When silver pike are crossed with great northern pike the resulting hybrid have a peculiar black mottling of the body.

Were it not for the fact that we knew about this fish when it was announced from Lake Bell Tain, we would say that the fish was a product of the laboratories; but freaks would not breed true, and they would inevitably cross with the great northern pike. We do believe, however, that the spread of the fish has been through man's efforts.

Minnesota has been considering going into mass production of the silver pike and there is every reason to believe that it will some day be as common in the waters of the United States and Canada as the great northern pike is at the present time.

How to Play Par Golf

Left Arm Straight With Club

By JULIUS BOROS
1952 U. S. Open Champ

If the toe of the club is sticking up, you are standing too far from the ball. If the heel is up, the toe drooping, you're too close.

Feet in position, weight properly set, you find you're bent slightly forward at the waist, just how much depending on your psysical stature.

The extension of your left arm should form a straight line with the club.

The hands, as you look down the shaft, should be slightly ahead of the ball.

Work on attaining the proper stance until it becomes automatic with you. Grip first, stance second, and you're on your way to shooting par. These two fundamentals will start you off correctly so that you will shift your weight properly and thus develop a smooth and rhythmic swing.

Footwork is as important in golf as it is in any other sport.

Footwork can control your body so you can bring the club into contact with the ball at the exact time to strike it squarely for maximum distance.

Golf isn't a game of putting your best foot forward.

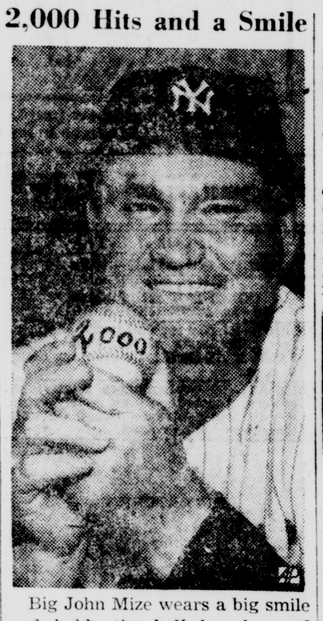
2,000 Hits and a Smile



Big John Mize wears a big smile and holds the ball he slammed into right field for his 2,000th base hit as a major leaguer in the game against the St. Louis Browns at New York June 16. The Yankee pinch hitter became the third active player with 2,000 hits. His single drove in the Yankees' only run in a 3 to 1 defeat which ended an 18-game winning streak.

Audible Vibrations

Vibrations audible to the human ear range from 16 to 30 vibrations per second for the lowest tones, and up to 30,000 vibrations per second for the highest pitched tones.

All Girl Scout camps, regardless of size, are decentralized so that each girl may be part of a small group called a unit. Under the unit plan, from 12 to 20 girls with their leaders live and work and plan their own activities together.

Hint to Motorists

It is advisable to use new gaskets when installing new spark plugs and also to make certain that the plug is screwed down tightly with a wrench. After the plugs have been installed and used for a short time, they should be tightened still farther to avoid compression leakage.

It is estimated that the leaning Tower of Pisa tilts .04 of an inch farther each year.

Castellani Cops Split Decision In Boring Bout

Cleveland, June 18 (AP)—Rocky Castellani, the winner, worried today about his fallen prestige while Pierre Langlois, the loser, started a vacation.

"Here we are a couple of ranking middleweights and we looked like amateurs," Castellani lamented after their televised bout last night in Cleveland Arena.

Castellani, 158, ranked seventh in his class, won a split dicision to avenge a close loss to Langlois, 160, in New York last February.

Everybody, including the crowd that booed the decision, and Langlois, seemed to agree last night's was a dull, often boring fight.

Lacks Damaging Punch

For five rounds, the slow-starting Langlois offered little to offset the stream of effective left hooks by lantern-jawed Castellani.

Then in the latter half, Langlois moved forward with stinging blows that slowed and forced Castellani into retreat at times. But he lacked a punch to do much damage against the tiring but tough Clevelander.

Referee Jackie Davis scored it 6-4 in rounds and Judge Charlie Bill 6-3-1, both for Castellani. Judge Herb Williams saw it 4-5-1 in favor of Langlois in the bout witnessed by 3,223 fans who paid a gross of $11,454.

Langlois' handlers hustled him off to the hospital immediately after the fight for treatment of two badly cut eyes.

Avila Holds Slim Edge For All Star Game Bid

Chicago, June 18 (AP) — Second and third base positions in the American League are drawing the closest rivalry in the fans' nationwide balloting for starting lineups of the All-Star baseball game at Cincinnati July 14.

Bobby Avila of Cleveland leads the Chicago White Sox's Nelson Fox by a mere 911 votes in the race for the second base assignment. Avila has polled 13,174 votes and Fox 12,263.

Cleveland's Flip Rosen has forged ahead of Boston's George Kell for third base honors, 12,884 to 11,659.

The best vote-getter in the poll so far is Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees who has 16,387 votes.

The southern part of Canada is farther south than is northern California.

It is difficult to say just when this mutant of the great northern pike first appeared in Wisconsin and Minnesota waters, but the silver pike is there and flourishing. These fish were taken in Lake Bell Tain of the Mantrap chain of lakes at Nevis, Minn., in 1930. Later they were caught in other lakes of the chain and in the immediate region. Since then silver pike have been taken in the Detroit lakes (Minnesota) region and as far north as Lake County, in the Superior National Forest.

It has been definitely proven that a cross between the great northern and the muskellunge is posible, but that the result of this cross will not reproduce. The hybrid or cross, is mottled, but retains the pike form. The silver pike, however, is without any spots, bars, or blotches, the coloration being bluish-gray. Many specimens are irridescent and some are flecked with gold. Specimens of silver pike have been reared at the University of Minnesota up to the age of three years. Dr. Eddy has observed that apparently the variety breeds true, for all the offspring are like the parents. When silver pike are crossed with great northern pike the resulting hybrid have a peculiar black mottling of the body.

Were it not for the fact that we knew about this fish when it was announced from Lake Bell Tain, we would say that the fish was a product of the laboratories; but freaks would not breed true, and they would inevitably cross with the great northern pike. We do believe, however, that the spread of the fish has been through man's efforts.

Minnesota has been considering going into mass production of the silver pike and there is every reason to believe that it will some day be as common in the waters of the United States and Canada as the great northern pike is at the present time.

Golf

Kansas City—Harlan Hise of Kansas City upset medalist Dee Replogle of Oklahoma City on 19th Hole in Trans-Mississippi tournament.

Atlanta — Defending champion Betsy Rawls shot a hole-in-one but was defeated by Patty Berg, 2-up, in the Women's Western Open championship.

Left Arm Straight With Club

By JULIUS BOROS
1952 U. S. Open Champ

If the toe of the club is sticking up, you are standing too far from the ball. If the heel is up, the toe drooping, you're too close.

Sole the club so the bottom rests level on the ground. The bottom line must be level.

Feet in position, weight properly set, you find you're bent slightly forward at the waist, just how much depending on your psysical stature.

Make sure your back is practically straight!

The arms should hang straight down from the shoulders as you address the ball.

The extension of your left arm should form a straight line with the club.

The hands, as you look down the shaft, should be slightly ahead of the ball.

Work on attaining the proper stance until it becomes automatic with you. Grip first, stance second, and you're on your way to shooting par. These two fundamentals will start you off correctly so that you will shift your weight properly and thus develop a smooth and rhythmic swing.

Footwork is as important in golf as it is in any other sport.

Footwork can control your body so you can bring the club into contact with the ball at the exact time to strike it squarely for maximum distance.

Golf isn't a game of putting your best foot forward.

It's a case of jumping in with both feet!

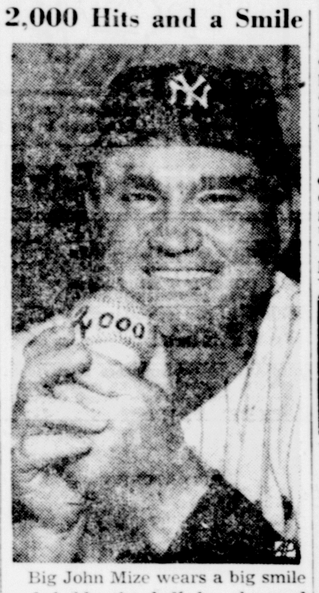
2,000 Hits and a Smile



Big John Mize wears a big smile and holds the ball he slammed into right field for his 2,000th base hit as a major leaguer in the game against the St. Louis Browns at New York June 16. The Yankee pinch hitter became the third active player with 2,000 hits. His single drove in the Yankees' only run in a 3 to 1 defeat which ended an 18-game winning streak.

Audible Vibrations

Vibrations audible to the human ear range from 16 to 30 vibrations per second for the lowest tones, and up to 30,000 vibrations per second for the highest pitched tones.

All Girl Scout camps, regardless of size, are decentralized so that each girl may be part of a small group called a unit. Under the unit plan, from 12 to 20 girls with their leaders live and work and plan their own activities together.

Hint to Motorists

It is advisable to use new gaskets when installing new spark plugs and also to make certain that the plug is screwed down tightly with a wrench. After the plugs have been installed and used for a short time, they should be tightened still farther to avoid compression leakage.

It is estimated that the leaning Tower of Pisa tilts .04 of an inch farther each year.

Castellani Cops Split Decision In Boring Bout

Cleveland, June 18 (AP)—Rocky Castellani, the winner, worried today about his fallen prestige while Pierre Langlois, the loser, started a vacation.

"Here we are a couple of ranking middleweights and we looked like amateurs," Castellani lamented after their televised bout last night in Cleveland Arena.

Castellani, 158, ranked seventh in his class, won a split dicision to avenge a close loss to Langlois, 160, in New York last February.

Everybody, including the crowd that booed the decision, and Langlois, seemed to agree last night's was a dull, often boring fight.

Lacks Damaging Punch

For five rounds, the slow-starting Langlois offered little to offset the stream of effective left hooks by lantern-jawed Castellani.

Then in the latter half, Langlois moved forward with stinging blows that slowed and forced Castellani into retreat at times. But he lacked a punch to do much damage against the tiring but tough Clevelander.

Referee Jackie Davis scored it 6-4 in rounds and Judge Charlie Bill 6-3-1, both for Castellani. Judge Herb Williams saw it 4-5-1 in favor of Langlois in the bout witnessed by 3,223 fans who paid a gross of $11,454.

Langlois' handlers hustled him off to the hospital immediately after the fight for treatment of two badly cut eyes.

Avila Holds Slim Edge For All Star Game Bid

Chicago, June 18 (AP) — Second and third base positions in the American League are drawing the closest rivalry in the fans' nationwide balloting for starting lineups of the All-Star baseball game at Cincinnati July 14.

Bobby Avila of Cleveland leads the Chicago White Sox's Nelson Fox by a mere 911 votes in the race for the second base assignment. Avila has polled 13,174 votes and Fox 12,263.

Cleveland's Flip Rosen has forged ahead of Boston's George Kell for third base honors, 12,884 to 11,659.

The best vote-getter in the poll so far is Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees who has 16,387 votes.

The southern part of Canada is farther south than is northern California.

Father to Face Inquest, Hearing In Child's Death

Miami, Fla., June 18 (AP)—Russell Tongay, 39, former coast guardsman and swimming instructor, faces a combined inquest and preliminary hearing today on a second degree murder charge in the death last month of his swim-star daughter, Kathy, 5.

Justice of the Peace Edwin Lee Mason will determine whether the state has sufficient evidence to bring Tongay to trial.

Mason issued the second degree murder warrant after an autopsy showed that Kathy died of ruptured intestine and compilications on May 5.

Two Denied Charge

Miami police who investigated charged the death followed a beating but both Tongay and his wife, Betty, a school teacher, denied the charge. Tongay said Kathy may have injured herself in a dive from a 33-foot tower the day before she died.

Kathy and her older brother, Bubba, 8, comprised a team of "Aquatots" and once planned to swim the English channel but British and French authorities frowned on the project. They also appeared in movies.

Mr. and Mrs. Tongay and Bubba have been in seculsion since the death of Kathy but Tongay's attorney said he would appear for the hearing set for 2 p. m. (EST).

Former FBI Agent Relates Red Plan To Kill McCarthy

Washington, June 18 (AP)—A former FBI undercover agent testified today he heard a Communist boast last December that he had been picked by Communist leaders to kill Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.).

The testimony came from Joseph D. Mazzei of Pittsburgh, who said the man who made the boast was Lou Bortz of Pittsburgh.

Bortz, called to the witness stand of Senate investigators, did not deny the story.

After some preliminary questioning, Sen. Mundt (R.-S.D.) asked him directly: "Were you assigned the duty of killing Sen. McCarthy?"

Answer Is Refused

Bortz refused to answer because, he said, an answer might tend to incriminate him.

Bortz was seated among the spectators when Mazzei gave his testimony. Once he was sworn, he was asked whether he knew Mazzei.

Mazzei said he was an FBI counter spy, posing as a Communist, when he attended a secret meeting in Pittsburgh at which Bortz announced that "he was selected by the Communist party to do a job in the liquidation of Sen. Joseph McCarthy."

He described Bortz as a leader of Communist "goon squads" in Pittsburgh, and quoted Bortz as telling the gathering of seven or eight persons that he was "gratified" by the assignment and that "when the time would come he would be ready to carry it out."

Killing Was Aim

Mazzei testified at a hearing by the Senate Investigations subcommittee. McCarthy heads this group but had arranged for Sen. Mundt (R.-S.D.) to preside.

Mundt asked Mazzei whether Bortz meant "a political liquidation or a physical liquidation" of McCarthy.

"To kill him," Mazzei said.

McCarthy sat quietly in the hearing room as Mazzei told his story.

Mazzei said a target was set up in the basement of a Pittsburgh building at which the Communists met, and was used for target practice with a variety of weapons. He said he was among those who received instructions from Bortz on how to make bombs.

Men and equipment from Wiltwyck station responded to a call at 10:32 a. m., and it was reported that George Tierney had been using the paint remover on the front porch railing when the blaze started. It was reported under control by the time firemen arrived to quench it thoroughly.

Former FBI Agent Relates Red Plan To Kill McCarthy

Washington, June 18 (AP)—A former FBI undercover agent testified today he heard a Communist boast last December that he had been picked by Communist leaders to kill Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.).

The testimony came from Joseph D. Mazzei of Pittsburgh, who said the man who made the boast was Lou Bortz of Pittsburgh.

Bortz, called to the witness stand of Senate investigators, did not deny the story.

After some preliminary questioning, Sen. Mundt (R.-S.D.) asked him directly: "Were you assigned the duty of killing Sen. McCarthy?"

Answer Is Refused

Bortz refused to answer because, he said, an answer might tend to incriminate him.

Bortz was seated among the spectators when Mazzei gave his testimony. Once he was sworn, he was asked whether he knew Mazzei.

Mazzei said he was an FBI counter spy, posing as a Communist, when he attended a secret meeting in Pittsburgh at which Bortz announced that "he was selected by the Communist party to do a job in the liquidation of Sen. Joseph McCarthy."

He described Bortz as a leader of Communist "goon squads" in Pittsburgh, and quoted Bortz as telling the gathering of seven or eight persons that he was "gratified" by the assignment and that "when the time would come he would be ready to carry it out."

Killing Was Aim

Mazzei testified at a hearing by the Senate Investigations subcommittee. McCarthy heads this group but had arranged for Sen. Mundt (R.-S.D.) to preside.

Mundt asked Mazzei whether Bortz meant "a political liquidation or a physical liquidation" of McCarthy.

"To kill him," Mazzei said.

McCarthy sat quietly in the hearing room as Mazzei told his story.

Mazzei said a target was set up in the basement of a Pittsburgh building at which the Communists met, and was used for target practice with a variety of weapons. He said he was among those who received instructions from Bortz on how to make bombs.

tails. No other allied casualties were reported.

Explains Sudden Break

Rhee explained his sudden break in a statement:

"The reason why I did this without full consultation with the UN command and other authorities concerned is too obvious to explain * * *

"According to the Geneva convention and * * * principles of human right * * * (the) prisoners should have been released long before this."

First reaction from observers was that Rhee's move would not keep the allies from signing an armistice agreement.

However, some sources said the Reds might balk and demand delivery of the prisoners. They were part of 46,380 anti-Red North Koreans and Chinese who refused to go home and thus became a problem that was resolved only last week after months of negotiations.

Rhee's order came last night. By 5 a. m., 25,000 prisoners had slipped away in the darkness and scattered through South Korea.

Rifle Fire Defective

With most of the 16,000 South Korean guards standing by idly, small numbers of surprised Americans tried to stop the flight with rifle fire, but they were too few.

Nine prisoners were killed and 16 were wounded.

UN troops recaptured 971 prisoners, even as Lt. Gen Won Yong Duk, South Korean provost marshal, warned that anyone who tried to arrest them—"regardless of nationality"—would be dealt with severely. He said he had ordered them freed on Rhee's command.

McGarr said in a news conference "weeks before the breakout we saw what might happen." He said the POW command had taken measures to reduce the risk. However, when asked by a reporter if he had any idea the break was coming, McGarr said: "I had none."

He said there were only 30 to 35 Americans on duty in each of the camps Wednesday night. But he added that reinforcements have arrived since. He emphasized the prisoners had "broken out" by battering or cutting holes in the barbed wire fences.

Prisoners Join Population

He said he believed the prisoners have been swallowed up into the civilian population by now and "if the people decided to live up to the pronouncement of President Rhee we probably won't get many back."

Brig. Gen. Lionel McGarr of the POW command said most of the South Korean officers in the camps up to and including colonels had disappeared with the prisoners. He said a higher percentage of South Korean enlisted men stayed at their posts.

High South Korean officials urged the people to feed, house and shelter the prisoners.

As the news became known, the U. S. Eighth Army canceled all leave for allied troops.

The problem of rounding up the prisoners appeared almost impossible—many were South Koreans who had been impressed into the North Korean army. All could blend into the mass of other South Koreans unmarked by language or physical differences.

Mistake Is Made

UN broadcasts told the prisoners they had made a mistake in leaving the prison camps. They promised no reprisals and assured the prisoners they would be set free after an armistice is signed.

In addition, the UN command ordered several units—presumably American—into a search for the prisoners.

The South Korean radio broadcast warnings from the government telling Koreans to disregard "foreign broadcasts" saying North Korean prisoners had escaped. It declared they had been released by Republic of Korea citizens.

Meanwhile, Maj. Gen. Thomas W. Herren, U. S. commander of POW camps, conferred with Gen. Sum Yup Paik, South Korean Army chief of staff, without reaching any solution.

Paik Non-Committal

"Paik was non-committal," Herren said, "and he made it clear that it was all in the hands of President Rhee."

In Tokyo, a spokesman at Gen. Mark Clark's headquarters issued a statement accusing the South Koreans of collusion with the anti-Red prisoners.

Before the mass escape, the UN held just under 125,000 prisoners but nearly 47,000 of them refused to go back. The 25,000 who escaped were among the 47,000.

Rhee went into closed session with his cabinet.

U. S. Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs in Seoul and other diplomatic officials declined to comment. But they were known to be gravely concerned.

At Munsan, the allied armistice camp near the Panmunjom truce site, there was no official comment.

The South Koreans long had wanted the anti-Communist Korean prisoners turned loose as civilians. They have threatened to ignore any truce that left the Communists holding North Korea and Red Chinese troops on Korean soil.

They also have threatened to fire on any troops sent into South Korea to explain about return to their homelands to Chinese and North Koreans who refuse repatriation.

In Seoul, an estimated 300 Seoul school girls paraded Thursday in a demonstration that produced the first banner acclaiming the release of the 25,000 North Koreans. It read:

"Congratulations freed Nationalist PWs."

Late Bulletins

Washington, June 18 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the South Korean Government's release of many thousands of anti-Communist prisoners of war "was in violation of the authority of the United Nations Command."

Dulles made the statement to newsmen after discussing the Korean situation with President Eienhower and other members of the National Security Council.

Washington, June 18 (AP)—With no specific precedent to guide them, the Supreme Court was making its own rules on procedure today in the historic session of the fate of atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

There was no way of knowing in advance just what course of action the court could take. Here are the possibilities:

1. A decision on the government's appeal from Justice Douglas' stay of execution could be handed down from the bench as soon as the hearing is ended.
2. The court could confer and issue a decision later in the day.
3. It could defer action indefinitely.

The session was to last three hours, with the prosecution and defense dividing the time evenly. The court convened at 11:12 a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

into action after hundreds of thousands of workers in East Berlin defied Red orders to go back to work today.

Strikes, Riots Reported

Chancellor Adenauer ordered flags on all public buildings in Bonn lowered to half staff in mourning for victims of the Berlin revolt.

Frankfurt postal officials said all telephone service between West Germany and the Soviet zone had been interrupted since last night. One source said he believed the interruption was due to a strike at the Leipzig trunk station in the Soviet zone. Communications with West Berlin were not affected.

There were unconfirmed reports that beside the 16 killed in Berlin up to 22 others lost their lives in violence at other places in the Soviet zone.

Jackson Says . . .

him because "I have burned no books," and, since "it has been the President's own administration that has ordered the book burning," Eisenhower could order it stopped.

Eisenhower said at the news conference he did not advocate in Sunday's speech the use of public funds to distribute books which try to propagandize readers into joining the Communists.

If the State Department is burning books which make such open appeals, he added, it can go ahead and burn them.

Eisenhower said the U. S. must encourage a very wide freedom of discussion and in general should keep in its libraries abroad the same books carried on library shelves at home.

But he said it would be the height of silliness to expect this country to follow a policy which would make it a party to its own destruction.

Police, Firemen Asked to Check Object in Fields

Local police and firemen were called upon today to investigate reports that an airborne craft or object had dropped something in the fields back of the Governor Clinton Hotel shortly before 10 a. m. today.

One source indicated that no plane had flown over the area at the time and no information was available this afternoon to indicate what the craft or object was or what had been dropped from it.

Previous experiences resulted in the discovery of parachutes dropped from automatically operated weather balloons.

Spotters Alerted

The incident alerted spotters in the observation post on the Governor Clinton Hotel, who relayed the information. Police headquarters was notified from the observation post at 9:50 a. m.

Officers Thomas Tomshaw and Francis Fagan were dispatched there, and reported that the area was generally a marshland and they were unable to make a thorough search. The fire department was also notified, but there was no report of anything found up to Freeman press time.

The White Plains observer corps headquarters indicated that an investigation was still in progress this afternoon to determine what the craft or object might have been.

tails. No other allied casualties were reported.

Explains Sudden Break

Rhee explained his sudden break in a statement:

"The reason why I did this without full consultation with the UN command and other authorities concerned is too obvious to explain * * *

"According to the Geneva convention and * * * principles of human right * * * (the) prisoners should have been released long before this."

First reaction from observers was that Rhee's move would not keep the allies from signing an armistice agreement.

However, some sources said the Reds might balk and demand delivery of the prisoners. They were part of 46,380 anti-Red North Koreans and Chinese who refused to go home and thus became a problem that was resolved only last week after months of negotiations.

Rhee's order came last night. By 5 a. m., 25,000 prisoners had slipped away in the darkness and scattered through South Korea.

Rifle Fire Defective

With most of the 16,000 South Korean guards standing by idly, small numbers of surprised Americans tried to stop the flight with rifle fire, but they were too few.

Nine prisoners were killed and 16 were wounded.

UN troops recaptured 971 prisoners, even as Lt. Gen Won Yong Duk, South Korean provost marshal, warned that anyone who tried to arrest them—"regardless of nationality"—would be dealt with severely. He said he had ordered them freed on Rhee's command.

McGarr said in a news conference "weeks before the breakout we saw what might happen." He said the POW command had taken measures to reduce the risk. However, when asked by a reporter if he had any idea the break was coming, McGarr said: "I had none."

He said there were only 30 to 35 Americans on duty in each of the camps Wednesday night. But he added that reinforcements have arrived since. He emphasized the prisoners had "broken out" by battering or cutting holes in the barbed wire fences.

Prisoners Join Population

He said he believed the prisoners have been swallowed up into the civilian population by now and "if the people decided to live up to the pronouncement of President Rhee we probably won't get many back."

Brig. Gen. Lionel McGarr of the POW command said most of the South Korean officers in the camps up to and including colonels had disappeared with the prisoners. He said a higher percentage of South Korean enlisted men stayed at their posts.

High South Korean officials urged the people to feed, house and shelter the prisoners.

As the news became known, the U. S. Eighth Army canceled all leave for allied troops.

The problem of rounding up the prisoners appeared almost impossible—many were South Koreans who had been impressed into the North Korean army. All could blend into the mass of other South Koreans unmarked by language or physical differences.

Mistake Is Made

UN broadcasts told the prisoners they had made a mistake in leaving the prison camps. They promised no reprisals and assured the prisoners they would be set free after an armistice is signed.

In addition, the UN command ordered several units—presumably American—into a search for the prisoners.

The South Korean radio broadcast warnings from the government telling Koreans to disregard "foreign broadcasts" saying North Korean prisoners had escaped. It declared they had been released by Republic of Korea citizens.

Meanwhile, Maj. Gen. Thomas W. Herren, U. S. commander of POW camps, conferred with Gen. Sum Yup Paik, South Korean Army chief of staff, without reaching any solution.

Paik Non-Committal

"Paik was non-committal," Herren said, "and he made it clear that it was all in the hands of President Rhee."

In Tokyo, a spokesman at Gen. Mark Clark's headquarters issued a statement accusing the South Koreans of collusion with the anti-Red prisoners.

Before the mass escape, the UN held just under 125,000 prisoners but nearly 47,000 of them refused to go back. The 25,000 who escaped were among the 47,000.

Rhee went into closed session with his cabinet.

U. S. Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs in Seoul and other diplomatic officials declined to comment. But they were known to be gravely concerned.

At Munsan, the allied armistice camp near the Panmunjom truce site, there was no official comment.

The South Koreans long had wanted the anti-Communist Korean prisoners turned loose as civilians. They have threatened to ignore any truce that left the Communists holding North Korea and Red Chinese troops on Korean soil.

They also have threatened to fire on any troops sent into South Korea to explain about return to their homelands to Chinese and North Koreans who refuse repatriation.

In Seoul, an estimated 300 Seoul school girls paraded Thursday in a demonstration that produced the first banner acclaiming the release of the 25,000 North Koreans. It read:

"Congratulations freed Nationalist PWs."

Late Bulletins

Washington, June 18 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the South Korean Government's release of many thousands of anti-Communist prisoners of war "was in violation of the authority of the United Nations Command."

Dulles made the statement to newsmen after discussing the Korean situation with President Eisenhower and other members of the National Security Council.

Washington, June 18 (AP)—With no specific precedent to guide them, the Supreme Court was making its own rules on procedure today in the historic session of the fate of atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

There was no way of knowing in advance just what course of action the court could take. Here are the possibilities:

1. A decision on the government's appeal from Justice Douglas' stay of execution could be handed down from the bench as soon as the hearing is ended.
2. The court could confer and issue a decision later in the day.
3. It could defer action indefinitely.

The session was to last three hours, with the prosecution and defense dividing the time evenly. The court convened at 11:12 a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Strikes, Riots Reported

Strikes and riots were reported in a half-dozen provincial cities in East Germany yesterday.

Soviet armored forces rushed into the most important trouble spots to wrench back control.

Chancellor Adenauer ordered flags on all public buildings in Bonn lowered to half staff in mourning for victims of the Berlin revolt.

Frankfurt postal officials said all telephone service between West Germany and the Soviet zone had been interrupted since last night. One source said he believed the interruption was due to a strike at the Leipzig trunk station in the Soviet zone. Communications with West Berlin were not affected.

There were unconfirmed reports that beside the 16 killed in Berlin up to 22 others lost their lives in violence at other places in the Soviet zone.

Jackson Says . . .

him because "I have burned no books," and, since "it has been the President's own administration that has ordered the book burning," Eisenhower could order it stopped.

Eisenhower said at the news conference he did not advocate in Sunday's speech the use of public funds to distribute books which try to propagandize readers into joining the Communists.

If the State Department is burning books which make such open appeals, he added, it can go ahead and burn them.

Eisenhower said the U. S. must encourage a very wide freedom of discussion and in general should keep in its libraries abroad the same books carried on library shelves at home.

But he said it would be the height of silliness to expect this country to follow a policy which would make it a party to its own destruction."

Police, Firemen Asked to Check Object in Fields

Local police and firemen were called upon today to investigate reports that an airborne craft or object had dropped something in the fields back of the Governor Clinton Hotel shortly before 10 a. m. today.

One source indicated that no plane had flown over the area at the time and no information was available this afternoon to indicate what the craft or object was or what had been dropped from it.

Previous experiences resulted in the discovery of parachutes dropped from automatically operated weather balloons.

Spotters Alerted

The incident alerted spotters in the observation post on the Governor Clinton Hotel, who relayed the information. Police headquarters was notified from the observation post at 9:50 a. m.

Officers Thomas Tomshaw and Francis Fagan were dispatched there, and reported that the area was generally a marshland and they were unable to make a thorough search. The fire department was also notified, but there was no report of anything found up to Freeman press time.

The White Plains observer corps headquarters indicated that an investigation was still in progress this afternoon to determine what the craft or object might have been.
